THE KRONE CEMETERY

The Krone Cemetery is located in Sycamore township of Montgomery county, Kansas. It is in the southeast quarter of section 22, range 15-E, township 31-S on land once owned by the Krone family. It is two miles west, one-eighth mile north of the town of Sycamore. It is on the west side of the road, the entrance marked with the name above the gate, and about one tenth of a mile west on a road through a field. It is in a grove of trees and is fenced and cared for.

The marking (c) means that the site has a concrete marker about 8"x 12"x6" with the surname indented on the top. These are all similar and usually mark a lot that has no other identification.

Early Citizens of Montgomery co., Kansas

The following are biographies of settlers which appeared in the History of Montgomery County, Kansas, published by L. Wallace Duncan, Iola, Kansas 1903

JOHN NEWTON

Since 1884 there has lived in Sycamore township the gentleman above named, who has established a reputation for uprightness and integrity equaled by few and surpassed by none. He resides on section 7-31-15 where he cultivates one of the most tasty farms in the township.

Mr. Newton is a native of the "Buckeye" state, his birth occurring in Harrison County March 14th, 1842. He was reared to farm life and accompanied his parents in their removal to Tuscarawas county, Ohio, where he continued to reside until the date of his coming to Montgomery county, Kansas. In May of 1865, he enlisted as a private soldier in Co. "D", 16th Ohio National Guard, under Colonel Taylor, and General Sigel, of the Army of the Potomac. He spent some four months in the service --- being at Martinsburg and Harper's Ferry --- and was mustered out at the capital of his state.

Mr. Newton takes a good citizen's part in the life of his community. He has served on the school board and as road overseer of his district. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and has been a Republican since he was able to cast a vote.

Turning now to the points of interest in the family history of Mr. Newton, the biographer recalls that he is the son of Isaac and Rachel (Murphy) Newton, both natives of Ohio. Isaac was a son of Levi and Mary Newton, whose children were: Ransom, Isaac, Levi, Zimena, Roxina and Annie. To the marriage of Isaac and his wife were born nine children as follows: Louise Hasebrock; Annie Smiley of Jewit, O.; Martha Walker of Urichsville, O.; Jane Brewster of Montgomery county; Matilda Kennedy, of Columbus, Ohio; John, the subject of this review; Robert, of Illinois; Luther, deceased; and Albert, who resides in Ohio. After the death of the mother of these children Isaac Newton married Mary J. Hoop, to whom were born Cora Baumer and Netta Thomas, both of whom reside in Ohio.

The domestic life of our subject was begun March 2, 1866, when he was happily joined in marriage with Mary E. Balitt. Mrs Newton was born in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, March 23, 1845, and is a daughter of Samuel and Mary A. (Baltzey) Balitt, natives, respectively, of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Newton are as follows: Mary C. Wilson, with her four children, Nellie, Aris, Frank and Bulah, resides in Montgomery county; Sarah L. Mathis, resides in Indian Territory with her children, Maude, Frederick and Lester M.; Isaac, yet at home; Daniel C., of Montgomery county; Luman R (B?), at home, and Carrie M. Oliver, with her daughter Flora, resides in Sycamore, Kansas.

As a member of this family there is at present the mother of Mrs. Newton, Mrs. Mary Balitt, now in her 80th year.

WILLIAM CAHOON BAYLIES

The pioneer has been the advance guard of civilization and about his personality clings the story of the advance, the struggle and the final victory. What is true of him in other localities is true of him in Montgomery county. He has helped to lay the foundation for the splendid work going on about us and to him who came at the beginning, remained to the finish and is here now, is due great credit, now and everlasting. In this list and belonging to this class we are pleased to present William C. Baylies, the subject of this review.

Mr. Baylies came to Montgomery county in July 1869, when the Red Man ruled, but chaos reigned. He came as a settler and in search of a home and he located on section 16, township 32, range 15, just south of Table Mound, where the transition from nature to art persistently and systematically took place. He came to the county by wagon, with less than fifty dollars in his pocket, from the state of Iowa. He is by nativity, a Southern man but by disposition and training, decidedly Northern. He was born in St. Helena Parish, Louisiana, July 27th 1843, and is the son of Nicholas Baylies, who was born in Vermont's capital April 9th, 1809. His grandfather was also Nicholas Baylies born on the 9th of April, 1769? (ed.) in Massachusetts, and Nicholas and Mary were the parents of three children, namely: Horatio N., Mary R., and Nicholas. They emigrated from the Old Bay State and settled near Montpelier, Vermont, where their children grew up. Their youngest child married Harriet Helen Cahoon, a daughter of William Cahoon, of Lyndon, Vermont, a lineal descendant of the famous founder of the Colony of Rhode Island. (It is a distinction worthy of record to descend from the first great pioneer preacher, Roger Williams). Eight children were born to Nicholas and Harriet Baylies, as follows: William C., Ripley N., Lawson W., Mary H., Charles E., Oscar S., Francis A., and George A.

When William C. Baylies was eight years old his parents returned north with their family, after having spent several years in the south, and located in Griggsville Illinois, where they resided 'till 1858, going thence to Des Moines, Iowa. The common schools had to do with the education of our subject and when the Rebellion came he enlisted in Company "K" 10th Iowa Inf., under Col. Perczell. His regiment formed a part of the 15th Army corps, Army of the Tennessee, and was in battle at the Island No. 10, New Madrid, Corinth, Vicksburg, thence east to the aid of Rosecrans at Chattanooga, thence on the campaign of Atlanta and the march to the sea. Its service ended with the march up through the Confederacy from Savannah to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Baylies received orders to proceed to Little Rock, Arkansas, from which point he was ordered to Davenport, Iowa, to be mustered out, on the 15th of August, 1865. He enlisted as a private, was promoted through the grades of non-commissioned officers and commissioned a First Lieutenant, and as such was mustered out.

In the spring of 1866, Mr. Baylies began a trip which gave him his first experience with the frontier. He went to the Territory of Montana, where he was employed in the gold diggings, and in other ways without much profit to himself, and after three years returned to Iowa and a month afterward started on his pioneering trip to Kansas.

February 14th, 1878, Mr. Baylies married Rachel M., widow of Dr. William E. Henry, and daughter of H. T. and Nancy I. Butterworth. By her first marriage Mrs. Baylies has two sons, Prof. Thomas B. and William E. Henry, mention of whom is made on another page of this volume. A daughter, Caroline C., is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Baylies. She is a junior in the Kansas State University. Clara, an orphan girl, is a member of the Baylies household. She has found a welcome and comfortable home there for twelve years and is a valuable acquisition to the family.

Table Mound, on which the Baylies home is situated is one of the highest points in Montgomery county. It rises more than two hundred feet above Elk river and contains an area of some six hundred acres, and forms a large part of the one thousand or more acres of the Henry and Baylies estate. The Baylies cottage stands on the eastern edge of the abrupt decline and overlooks, from its almost dizzy height, the entire landscape below and furnishes a magnificent "birds' eye" view. The Mound is underlaid with Iola limestone and commercial shale and is, perhaps, doomed to destruction for the manufacture of portland cement.

Mr. Baylies is honorable in dealing, modest in bearing and influential as a citizen. His home is filled with good cheer and hospitality and is presided over by a genuine woman, his wife. In early days Mrs. Baylies was a teacher. She is a lady of culture and refinement and in the rearing of their children she and her husband have honored society and won distinction for themselves.
