BITS AND PIECES from CANEY, KANSAS CENTENNIAL BOOK

On the 6th of May in 1869, John Thominson and Bert Amos Holland established the first homesteads in the Little Caney Valley. Both places were located on the west side of the river close to the state line. On the 10th of June, John Thominson became the first child born in the area.

At that time the Osage Indians still had a camp along the river about where the city water station is now located. In this same year some of the settlers found a dead Cheyenne Indian near the J. P. Sheffield Crossing of Cheyenne Creek. The Cheyenne had been traditional enemies of the Osages for many years so no one was really concerned; however, this event gave the creek its name. The crossing was named for Mr. Sheffield who settled there.

About this time the Badgley family came to the area. Mr. C. E. Badgley, a boy at the time, tells of their coming in the following story and tells something of early life on the plains. "In the spirng of 1869, May 10th, our wagon train had made the journey from Springfield, Illinois, to sunny Kansas, and two months of hard driving was the length of time required to make the trip. We were delighted with the country and I will say right here was nothing but country. There was not a house this side of the Verdigris River until the settlers cut logs and erected rough but comfortable houses. Fort Scott at that time was a frontier post. The old fort that had been used for years was still standing and was looked upon with wonder and reverence.

"A vast plain extends from Fort Scott to Chetopa. We saw only one house between these two places. On the east side of the Verdigris River was a log cabin used as a trading post called Westphalia. Just west of the river on Onion Creek was a large Indian village.

"During the fall or winter of 1869, Dr. J. W. Bell & family settled on the town site and built the first building which would now be about in the middle of the intersection of 4th Ave and State Street.

"Two other early comers also built houses on the town site in 1869. One was the claim shanty of J. Hardin Smith and was located where the swimming pool is now located. The second house was at approximately 208 S. Wood built by Jasper N. West, who became the first postmaster, and had to journey to the town of Parker every other day to pick up the mail for Caney.

"By this time there had been a population explosion. Berryman Smith, James G. Woodruff, O. M. Smith and J. E. (Cap) Stone had taken up claims. West's Woodruff's and the two Smith's quarter section claims made up the Caney town site. These five men organized the Cana Town Company and plotted the area where their claims met at Dr. Bells' store and filed it for record in the county court house on 22 March 1872

"Later when the town of Cana failed and Caney was organized came John Luppy, John Hodges, Robert Hammill, Sam Ridgeway and Bill Copper. John Luppy is credited with digging the city well; Bill Copper opened a black-smith shop; Hardin Smith a barber shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Steele homesteaded a farm north of town and owned the only cookstove in the area. He worked on MKT RR; G. S. Carinder & Levi Glatfelder settled on farms a few miles east of town."

JOSEPHAT CEMETERY

Located on north side of Oklahoma state line raod in a field east of house owned by C. G. Miller. Tall weeds cover the area, but most of the stones have been mended at some time. Eight stones and inscriptions read by Joan Roszel, 1222 West 2nd, Coffeyville, KS, August 15, 1980.

South side starting east row (Cemetery appears to consist of 2 rows)

BURNS, Joseph M. -- 1846 --- -- 1893

(Has 2 corner type stones, one 6' n of large stone & another directly e. of it, probably plot markers stone 18" x 24")

KEENCE, Elbert M. -- 1888 --- -- 1889

(Top of stone has name: ELBERT M.)

(son of J.E. & Anna M. - lots of broken pieces in same area but no sign of other graves)

POWERS, Mary -- 1877 --- 1901

(dau. of Catherine - small upright 12X14 marked with leaning cross & leaves)

Small upright stone marked with W. R. on top corners.

OSTDICKENBURG, Maria A. 29 Oct 1820 --- 17 Oct 1886

(Tall slender stone with upright cross on top)

(in memory of Maria A., N. E. Kerhoff d. in Coffeyville)

Writing on south side of stone:

O God look down and hear our prayer from Realms above Show us a sisters care a mothers love

Be near us all through strife

Till in eternal life, free from sin,

In Heaven we arrive

May earth be light to her

Eternal rest grant her O, Lord

Behind this stone are six broken pieces of stones which do not appear to be of one stone; possibly three different ones. One piece is marked with the letters J.B.O.; another is possibly a corner of a stone with parts of letters on it. The only legible figures are 60.

OSTDICKENBURG, John B. 17 Aug 1856 --- 14 Nov 1886

(born at Beckum in Westphalia, Germany, d. in Coffeyville)

Same type stone as one above stating "Here Resteth"

South side of stone:

Glory be to Jesus who in bitter pains

Poured for me his lifeblood from his sacred veins

Grace and life eternal in that blood I find

Blest be his compassion infinitly kind may rest in peast SCHOCKMAN, Bernard H. -- --- 17 Jan 1884

(INR on cross on angelican type cross, aged 68y)

On base of stone is written:

Sleep on dear father and take the rest

Gad called thee home He thought it best

There is a cluster of three oak trees behind these three large stones and the stones are close together.

FERAN, Winifred -- Mar 2897 --- -- May 1897

About two feet north of this stone is a broken piece with no markings, but is of headstone material, so possibly part of a stone.

At extreme north end of the cemetery are three tall pine or cedar trees with a shale rock border. This appears to be a family plot 20' X 14", but has no stones.

The only stone on west side row is directly in front of Schockmann and Ostdickenburg stones. It is tall with cross on top marked with IHS

Wealth of Cities-Iom Goodwin of Sycamore, who retains an interest in the history of Montgomery County, brought us by some research he has carried on about early day towns and villages in the county as they were in February of 1867 three years before Independence was incorporated. Of course, the cities that remain today were the same, but there were many others springing up all over.

Some of the names were: Atkinsville, Atlanta, Bagley, Bee, Breneman, Brickton, Bruno, Cherry Vale, Cherryville, Costello, Crane, Fawn, Fawn Creek, Forest Grove, Friendlay Grass, Harrisonville, Hosford, Ives, Iarimer, Lay, Montgomery, Morgan, Novelty, Perkins, Radical City, Ritchie, Rutland, Saint Paul, Sternerton, SunnySide, and Talley Springs.

Of course, some of these names became townships in later years and some joined forces with neighbors to form larger communities. Those that survived the years of growth are still alive, while many fell due to lack of population or resources. (This is from a clipping handed to me and probably came from the Independence Reporter (Kas) (We note that Parker and Westralia, two communities in the southeast part of the counties are not listed altho they were among the first in the county. Sycamore is in the northern part of the county and several southern ones may have been missed. Any Additions?) (K N)

GEN. GEORGE H. WARK

E. M. & Lydia Wark came to Liberty area around 1870 and traded a team of horses for their eighty acre farm located three miles west of Liberty. They raised four children: Mae Hurst, George, Mary Jones and Nellie Sherwood. They all attended Pinkston school. After the death of Mr. and Mrs. Ward, the farm stayed in an estate for a long time.

George Wark, son of E. M. and Lydia Wark was born in 1878, died 1970. He practiced law in Caney up to and including early 1970. He attended High School in Independence, and received his law degree from University of Kansas School of Law in 1903. He went to Caney in October that same year and opened a law office there. He served as City Attorney in Caney, State Senator, and when war broke out in 1917 he organized "Company D" which was activated and combined with a number of Missouri units to form the 139th Infantry Regiment. At this time he became Commander of the 129th Machine Gun Battalion, Co. D. He received the Silver Star Medal and an Army Citation. During 1921 and 1922 he organized the Kansas National Guard and became Captain adjutant. Later he was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and then full Colonel. In 1933 he was called to Fort Leavenworth and was promoted to rank of Brigadier General, a rank which he held till death.

The following are excerpts taken from dedication page of Caney, Kansas Centennial book (The Unfolding of the Scroll 1871 - 1971)

GEN. GEORGE H. WARK - WAR HERO - PROFESSIONAL MAN - COMMUNITY LEADER

Born and raised near Liberty, Kansas, Gen. George H. Ward was graduated from the University of Kansas School of Law in 1903. He came to Caney in October of that year.

At this time, the town was experiencing a very rapid growth due to its industrial development and a new, just discovered gas field east of town.

There was a population of 1,450 souls, saved and unsaved, five saloons, three gambling halls, seven lawyers, four doctors and three preachers.

In 1904 the town was incorporated as a city of second class and Mr. Wark was appointed City Attorney, a position he has held off and on for many years. During these early years, he was instrumental in the legal matters in obtaining for the city a new water system, paving of the streets, installation of a sewer system and the erection of the McKinley School. In 1914 he sold at public auction the bonds for financing the construction of the present high school building and later was attorney for the school board when the Lincoln Grade School was built.

In 1916 he was elected to the Kansas State Senate; in 1917 returned to Caney and organized CO D. which was activated and combined with MO unit; his unit served in France where he received the Silver Star and Citation. In 1919 he helped organize and became the first Commander of the Ernest Brown Post of the American Legion No 138. Buring 1921 & 1922 he organized the Kansas National Guard and became Captain Adjutant, then full Bridadier Gen.

SUNNYSIDE CEMETERY

The following taken from the Caney, Kansas Centennial book 1871-1971

Caney's first cemetery was on Smelter Hill and was government land. This was not a fit place for a cemetery because it was hard digging

The first five acres for the present cemetery were purchased from Berry Smith for $200 which is in the northeast section at this time. The first person to be buried there was Betsy Babcock, Mr. Taylor's mother-in-law, and a short time later Ellen Decker.

After the cemetery was surveyed, it was found Mrs. Babcock and Mrs. Decker were buried in the roadway, so they had to move both bodies.

Mrs. M. L. Connelly was president of the Association for 40 years and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Godden were on the board until they passed away. After Mrs. Connelly's death Jake Young (Mayor) and V. C. Wallar as trustee took over the affairs of the Association. Mr. Wallar acted as president until Mrs. Effie Winkler was elected in 1946.

Others who served as secretary of the board include Mrs. V. C. Wallar, Mrs. J. A. Radar, Frank Frank Nason, Mrs. Helen McBurney, Mrs. Frank Noah, Miss Dorothy Gees and Mrs. Arthur Fisher. Frank Noah served as sexton for 32 years, retiring in July 1970 and Bill Carinder, sexton since that time. Other members have been George H. Wark, Frank Ikerd, Fred Mills, V. C. Wallar, Jr., Louie Hill & J. W. Rogers.

The cemetery association owns 15 acres of ground including lots across the street south of the cemetery where the Memorial Park is located. The association also owns the sexton's house and a building for storing equipment. It has modern facilities for the public.

NOTE: The City of Caney owns Sections A and B, but it was an agreement that the Cemetery Association would be responsible for the upkeep and care of said sections unless financial difficulties developed.

The City Council on March 1, 1892, upon the recommendation of the Cemetery Association voted that lots 86 and 125 inclusive in Section A & B be priced at $16; lots from 46 to 85, inclusive, $10 per lot, and all others $6 each. That all lots may be divided into halves equally north and south at one-half price of the lot, except Lots 1 to 25 in Section A, which should be set aside as free burial ground.

This cemetery is kept up as nice as any and is a credit to the town.

EARLY CITIZENS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY . KANSAS

The following biographies appeared in the History of Montgomery County, Kansas, published by I. Wallace Duncan, Iola, Kansas, 1903.

CAPT. J. E. STONE

This name is an honored one in Montgomery county, where its bearer has resided for many long years, he being one of the earliest settlers in the southern part of the county. Capt. Tone settled in the county soon after the war and one year prior to the laying out of the townsite of Caney. Here he purchased a large body of land, on part of which now stands that city. During his residence here, Capt. Stone has filled several important public positions, notably that of county sheriff, in which office he served two terms, and as postmaster of the city of Caney, a positions he has held since 1897.

Capt. Joseph E. Stone is the eldest son of Jonathan and Sarah (Stevens) Stone. His birth dates in the state of Maine, where he was born, in Waldo county, on the 26th day of July 1842. His parents were by occupation farmers. The records give the date of the birth of Jonathan Stone as March 27, 1816, his death occurring July 20th, 1883. The dates of birth and death of the wife are respectively, March 27, 1818, and January 15th, 1900. These parents reared a family of five children. Capt. Stone passed the days of his youth and young manhood on the home farm, his early education being that which was common in those days in the country districts of the east. With this as a foundation he attended sessions at the Maine State Seminary, and at the early age of sixteen had qualified himself for the noble work of a teacher. He taught sucessfully for a period of five years in the country districts about his home. As therumblings of war became more and more distinct the youngteacher followed events with an all-absorbing interest and when opportunity offered he was ready to offer his life as a sacrifice on the altar of devotion to country. He enlisted in Company "P" of the 44th U. S. Colored Infantry a regiment recruited with white officers and colored troops. Capt. Stone was enlisted as second lieutenant and was later promoted to first lieutenant, which position he was holding at his discharge. He parcipated in several important engagement and was at the surrender of Lee at Appomatox. His regiment was sent to the extreme south immediately after the surrender, and he was mustered out in the city of New Orleans. The service, however, had proved so fascinating to our subject that he soon re-enlisted in the regular service, this time as first lieutenant of Company "E", 125th Colored U. S. Infantry. In this position he experienced service on the plains for two years and then closed his military life at Fort Leavenworth in December of 1867.

A trip to the old home in Maine preceded his settlement at Iee Summit, Jackson county, Missouri, where he conducted a commission business until the spring of 1870. This year marks the date of his coming to Kansas, the exact day of his landing in the vicinity of the present city of Caney being the 11th of May. He took up a claim just north of Caney and since that time has been one of the largest individual land owners in the county. His holdings aggregate at present some 1,200 acres, 500 of which adjoins the city limits. Some idea of the strides real estate have taken in this vicinity may be gathered from the fact that this land, bought at $7.00 an acre, is now valued in the neighborhood of $100.00.

Capt. Stone has figured actively in the development of Caney. In 1886, a company was organized, of which he became president, and whic phychased 240 acres north of the city. This was platted and is now a part of the city proper. He has built himself a handsome residence on the corner of Fourth avenue and Wood street, where he is passing an active and pleasant old age.

As stated, the public life of Capt. Stone comprised two terms in the office of sheriff, in the early days, and his present position of postmaster. His experience in the former office was immediately after his arrival in Kansas, and was in a day when it took a man of some nerve to administer the office. Our subject can tell many a good story of "border warfare", when the man quickest with his gun was the master of the situation. During his term as postmaster at Caney the office has passed from a fourth-class to a presidential office. His administration of the office has been eminently satisfactory to the patrons and the department at Washington. In financial circles Capt. Stone is know far and wide. He is vice president and one of the principal stockholders in the Home National Bank of Caney, and is regarded as one of the solid men of the southern part of the state.

Cur subject has been most active in political life, and it is not fulsome praise to say that the present condition of the Republican party is due in large measure to his wise counsel and efficient management as chairman of the County Central Committee.

The marriage of Capt. Stone occurred in February of 1874, while serving his second term as sheriff. The event occurred in Independence; the lady's name, Anna Vansandt, a native of Missouri, a daughter of Elijah and Mary R. Vansandt. Mrs. Stone was a lady of many excellencies of character and on her death, May 16th, 1897, she was mourned by a large circle of friends throughout the county. She was the mother of five children, all of whom are living: Arthur F., Herbert G., MyrtleMay, Roy M. and Edwin Earl. This latter son inherited the taste for military life from his father and is at present a member of the U. S. Cavalry, 14th Regiment, stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona.

Forceful, yet, withal, most kindly, shrewd in the management of his affairs, yet generous to a fault; helpful in his association with friends and neighbors, Captain Stone merits the large measure of esteem in which he is held in Caney and Montgomery county.

SAMUEL M. PORTER

Montgomery county has reason to be proud of the high character of her bar. The past is secure, in the high standing attained by many of its members, while the many brilliant young men now practicing before her courts, bid fair to amintain the standard. The gentleman, whose name is presented above, has earned the distinction of occupying a leading position among the legal fraternity, not only of his own county, but in many of the surrounding counties, as well. He is especially strong in the field of title law, and has given deep study to questions pertaining to the legal status of the Indian, before our courts. He has met and vanquished many of the best legal minds of the country, on these questios, and has established a reputation, for legalacumen, not surpassed by any of his contemporaries.

Samuel M. Porter comes of a family, whose members have been honorably and prominently identified with the annals of our country, since the days of the great struggle for independence, and in which Moses J.Porter, grandfather of our subject, took a very prominent part, having been on the staff of General Washington, during that sanguinary conflict. The latter was the son of English parents, who had emigrated to the hills of Vermont, many years before the war. They there developed the independence of spirit, which characterized all the people of that section, and many of whom fought valiantly in the ranks, when the issue was joined with the mother country.

Moses J. Porter was born in Vermont and reared amid the hardships of pioneer life. He was one of the first to take up arms and soon distinguished himself as to attract the attention of his superiors. He participated in many hard-fought battles, and, for six years was privileged to endure the hardships, which were so uncomplainingly participated in by the great head of the army and his personal staff, and was present at the last great battle, where the world was "turned upside down" by the masterly tactics of him who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." After the war, he settled in Cntario county. New York state, and to him was born a son, Moses G., the date of whose birth was December 7, 1819, and who became, in turn, the father of our subject.

At the age of twenty-three, Moses G. Porter, settled in Cakland county, Michigan, where he, later, married Maria Morse, a native of Cortland county, New York, born January 20, 1818. These parents raised a family of four children, and continued to reside in the locality of Walled Lake, Michigan, until their death. The father was a man of intelligence and thrift, and, during his lifetime, participated in the social, religious and political life of the community. He served his township as trustee, and was, for many years, Justice of the Peace. He died at the age of sixty-five in 1884, the wife surviving him him thirteen years.

Samuel M Porter was born on a farm, near the village of Walled Lake, Michigan, on the 14th of December, 1849, and is the second of four children now living, John A., Edward W., and Sarah (now Mrs. Homer Chapman, of Walled Lake), being the other three. His prescholastic training was secured in the rather primitive country schools of that section of the state. He was reared to the independent life of the farm, and, in learning to run his furrows straight, was taught the value of right living. He early became imbued with the idea of the dignity of labor, and through the intervening years has always honored the "man behind the plow."

Feeling the need of a better education, he matriculated at the famous old school, Hillsdale College, from whose sacred precincts have come some of the brightest minds of the west, and, for anumber of terms, alternately attended its sessions, and taught winters in country schools of his section of the state. Through the influence of an old-time friend of the family, General Daniel W. Perkins, of Saginaw, he was induced to begin the study of law, and, in his office, began thecareer which is progressing so favorably. After reading, in the office, for a period, he became a student at the Michigan University Law School, located at Ann Arbor, and from which he graduated, in the the class of 1874. East Saginaw, Michigan, was selected as a place to begin the practice and, for seven years succeeding, he practiced before the courts of that state, being admitted to the Supreme Court, in 1876. So assiduously did the young lawyer apply himself to the duties of his profession, that his health failed, and, on the advice of his physician, for a change of climate, he came to Kansas, in September, 1881, and, settling on a farm near Caney for a time, abandoned his profession. This change of occupation and climate proved so beneficial that a few years only was necessary to put him in his old form, and he then resumed the practice.

This in brief, is the story of the life of one of Caney's best citizens.Mr. Porter's connection with thepeople of Caney has been most helpful. He has always taken a keen interest in the progress of the city, and has been instrumental in bringing much capital to the section in which he is located. To him, probably, more than any other, may be attibuted the building of the K., O.C. & S.W.Ry. In the interest of this enterprise he, in 1894, went to England and other foreign countries. Not meeting with immediate success there, he returned to New York, and, before coming home, had arranged for the necessary capital to begin the work. It was, also, owing to his indefatigable efforts, that the Santa Fe Ry,Co. became interested in its purchase, and it has thus become a feeder to one of the greatest systems of railway in the W Count ry.

Mr. Porter has shown his faith in the city by building one of the handsomest residence properties in this section of the state, apiece of architecture that would attract att attention in any city. Politics has no special charm for this busy man, and he contents himself in casting his balot for good government, party being of but slight consideration, although he generally votes with the Republicans. He is financially interested in several local enterprises. A stockholder in the Home National Bank, and for which he acts as legal adviser, president of the Gas Company, and stockholder in the Caney Brick Company, besides owning two farms near the city.

Several of the best fraternities enroll the name of Mr. Porter, notably the Modern Woodmen of America, the Knights of Pythias, Masons and the Knights Templar, in all of which he is a popular and helpful member.

In December of 1874, Mr. Porter was joined in Marriage with Miss usan Hoyt, in Michigan; an estimable lady, who died five years later, leaving two little daughters; May now a teacher in the schools of Walled Lake, and Grace, a teacher in the schools of Caney. In December of 1883, Mr. Porter contracted marriage the second time, the lady who now presides over his home, having been Miss Elthea Smith, a native of Minnesota. The marriage has been blessed with four children: George F., Margaret, Lutie and Paul.

Life is what we make it; the balances turn up or down, in the degree in which we are kind and helpful and generous and brave. All of these attributes of character are found in the make-up of the gentleman whose brief sketch we here present, in the confidence that no man can say nay to what has been written.

ANDREW M. TAYLOR, M. D.

In any western community, there is always a group of choice spirits, who are referred to as "old settlers." They are the people who initiated things --- who saw the infant community, as it were, shake off its swaddling clothes and start forth on its journey to maturity. Caney is not without these honored witnesses to her birth and her early infancy, and the gentleman whose name heads this paragraph is one of them. Dr. Andrew Taylor was the first physician to settle in Caney, and has further distinction of being the parent of one of the first white children born within her limits.

Dr. Taylor was born in Franklin county, Maine, October 9, 1834. His father, William Taylor, was a native of the same state, as was also his mother, whose maiden name was Amy Oaks. The parents wer farmers, by occupation, and lived out their days in their native state, respected and honored citizens. The husband died at seventy, the wife at fifty years of age, their family having consisted of eight children, but two of whom are now living, our subject and William W. of Maine.

Dr. Taylor was reared to farm life, his prescholastic education being received in the little log school house of that early period. He was later given a good literary education, in an advanced academy, and at twenty-one, began the study of medicine, under the preceptorship of his brother, Dr. J. G. Taylor. For the completion of his medical studies, he came out to the great west, matriculating in Rush Medical College, then in its infancy, but long since one of the famous schools of medicine. Here he was graduated in the class of 1858, and immediately entered on the practice, at Packwaukee, Wisconsin. Twelve years were passed at this point, when the Doctor changed his location to Hancock, where the war found him busy in his work, but not to so great an extent as to drown the cry of the distressed slave. He enlisted, as a private soldier, in Company "D", Thirty-seventh Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, in which organization he served to the close of the war, for the most part in hospital work. He was appointed hospital steward, then assistant surgeon, and was finally advanced to be surgeon of his regiment. Taking up the practice again, at his home, he remained in Wisconsin, until 1869, when he came to Kansas, settling in the new town of Caney. At that time, there were but three houses in the village, and the country was full of Indians, they not having left the reservation as yet. The doctor was appointed trustee of the township, and in that office, laid out all the roads about Caney, a task so well accomplished as to necessitate but one or two changes. all these years, he has been, continuously, in the practice, though in later years, he confines himself to office practice, in connection with his drug business.

Dr Taylor has served the city, in various capacities, during all these years, and has never lost faith in its future greatness. In the early days, he acted, for a period, as postmaster, and has always taken a lively interest in the educational affairs of the community. Of a social disposition, he has been a great factor in the development of the sociability and freehandedness, which has come to be one of the distinguishing features of Caney, and which makes it so desirable a place of residence.

In his family life, the Doctor has been especially blessed, he and his good wife having traveled life's road together for the last forty-three years. Mrs. Taylor bore the name of Fannie S. Babcock, prior to 1859, when she consented to join forces with the rising young physician of the community. She was the daughter of Amasa and Betsy (Angel) Babcock and was born in New York State. But one daughter of the three children she has borne, is now living, Amy G., wife of Mr. H. H. Graves, associated in the drug business with the Doctor. Charles O. lived to the age of forty years, while William died, a boy of nine.

No more honored and highly respected citizen lives in Caney thanDr. Taylor. He has been prominently and honorably associated with its entire history and, in the evening of his life, he can look back with a consciousness of having been the means, at least in part, of building up a community which can not be surpassed, for enterprise and push, in the southern part of the state
