EARLY CITIZENS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY, KANSAS

The following biographies appeared in the History of Montgomery County, Kansas published in 1903 by I Wallace Duncan, Iola, Kansas.

NAPOLEON DURAND

In the career of our subject is exemplified the trite adage ---"labor has its sure reward." The proverb is strikingly true in this instance, applying, as it does, to one thrown upon the world in boyhood without the power of money or the prestige of influential friends behind him and being able, with his hands, to work out a destiny that shall some day class him among the successful self made men. A victim of parental indigence in childhood and hampered by the lack of opportunity for an education, but endowed with intelligence and a strong physique, he met the world with these simple forces and dug his way, by slow processes, into a creditable position among the honorable men of his community.

The Durands were, as the name suggests, of French origin. The paternal grandfather of Napoleon Durand was a native Frenchman who settled his family in New York state where Brazil, the father of our subject, was born. The latter came to Illinois when a young man and located near Kankakee, where he married Catherine Detour, an Illinois lady of French parents. In 1874, his wife died leaving three children: Catherine, wife of Lee Detour, of Guide Rock, Nebraska; Napoleon of this notice, and Edward. Brazil Durand demonstrated his patriotism by his enlistment in an Illinois regiment for service in the Civil War and saw much of the hard fighting of the first three years of the war. He belonged to "osecrans' army and was in the fight at Stone river and on the Atlanta campaign. When the war was over he returned to the work of the farm and left Illinois in 1879 to become a citizen of Kansas. He settled a piece of railroad land five miles northwest of Humbolt, in Allen county, and for five years labored, almost without resources, in the improvement and cultivation of his place. He sold out in 1884 and located in Coffeyville, Kansas, from which point he made a prospecting tour of the northwest in search of a more favorable location, and while in Helena, Montana, died, at fifty years of age.

Before his departure from Illinois, Brazil durand married Jennie Beck, a Frdnch lady, by whom he had two daughters, Bertha and May were born. The former is Mrs. Yingling, of Chicago, and the latter Mrs. Edward G. Snyder, of Oklahoma.

At the age of thirteen years Napoleon Durand undertook the responsibility of his own support. He was a good stout boy, with a good mental balance and manly bearing, but with education greatly neglected. Farm work was what he was equipped for and this he went at with a vim. His monthly stipend was not very large but it served to give him encouragement and good clothes for his back and some money in his pocket. Wherever he worked he was liked as one of the family and he always left his place with his employer's regret. For several years he remained near the town of Humbolt or Iola but in 1891, he went to Colorado and spent two years on a ranch in the San Louis Valley. He returned to Kansas in 1893, was married soon after and began married life on a farm near Havana in Montgomery county. In two years he felt able to venture to buy a farm and he did so, owning and cultivating it until 1898, when he sold it and moved to Cherryvale where he has since made his home.

His twelve years experience as a hired man were of value to him in gaining knowledge of men, and in the transaction of business in later life has enabled him to cope successfully with his peers. In the Farmers' Oil and Gas Company of Cherryvale, he is a stockholder and the development of their leases has proven their holdings to have substantial value.

November 26, 1893, Napoleon Durand and Nettie Robinson were married. Mrs. Durand is a daughter of the Rev. Joseph J. Robinson, of Sedan, Kansas, who brought his family to the "Sunflower State" in Sept. 1875, and settled on Montgomery county. Mr. Robinson was born in Pennsylvania, August 19, 1827, and married, in Ohio, Ruth Ann Markley, born in Ohio, February 13, 1829. About 1860, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson moved to Illinois where their daughter Nettie was born July 2, 1870. Mr. Robinson engaged in the ministry in the prime of life and continued it till his superannuation in recent years. His home was on his farm near Havana for many years and there he brought up his family, as follows: Cecil C., Charles H., John T., William O. and Nettie A., Mrs. Durand.

Two children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Durand, viz: Charles Earl, who died at three and one-half years and Calvert A., born Nov. 9, 1901.

Like his father Mr. Durand is a Republican. He is ambitious only to be known as a good citizen and is without aspirations in the political arena.

WILLIAM P. LIVINGSTON

An obliging, efficient public servant, a veteran of the greatest Civil War in all history, and a loyal hustler in the interest of his local community, William P. Livingston occupies a large place in the hearts of liberty township people, whom he has served for the last four years as postmaster.

In reviewing the life of Mr. Livingston, the keynote to his character must first be noted --- intense and loving loyalty to country. Reared amid the fierce heat of discussion of the slavery question in a state where both freeman and slave mingles, he early developed a hatred for the institution and a consequent loyalty to the cause which had for its ultimate object the breaking of the shackles. As a boy in his teens, he left home in December of 1861, and enlisted at Columbia, KY., in Co. G., of the Fifth Kentucky Cavalry. He was soon appointed a corporal and was later promoted to First Sergeant for meritorious conduct on the field of battle. As was the lot of most of the cavalry regiments of the war, Mr. Livingston's regiment had plenty to do, participating in no less than 335 battles and skirmishes, in three hundred of which our subject was under fire. Through these scenes of conflict, our subject passed without bodily harm, though many times escaping by a hair's breadth. His service was, for the most part, in the west, and covered the entire period of the war, being mustered out on the third day of May, 1865.

Mr. Livingston is the son of James and Tabitha (Brown) Livingston and was born in Overton county, Tenn. December 25, 1841. His people were well-to-do farmers of that county. Grandfather Samuel Livingston settled in Tennessee from North Carolina in an early day, the county seat town of that name having been christened by him. As with many another lad of like age, our subject's career was somewhat interfered with by the war. He had received a fair education and had anticipated a professional life, but circumstances after the war were not favorable to that and he gave up the study of medicine after a year's trial. His early life has been devoted mostly to agriculture; until 1871, in Tennessee, and since then, in this state. In that year, he located in Labette county, where he remained some ten years, thence to Montgomery, where in 1881, he purchased a drug stock in Liberty, a business in which he has been engaged continuously since. The helpful personality of our subject has always made him a leading factor in the different communities in which he has resided. Possessed of a mind of fine grasp of civic questions and an independent and fearless disposition, his opinions are of great weight in the settlement of questions affecting the welfare of his community. While in Labette county, he served as Justice of the Peace for four years and as a Republican has always been prominent in the councils of the party though never seeking office. His appointment as postmaster dates from 1899, and came to him in the nature of a compliment for past services to his country and party.

In March of 1869, Mr. Livingston was joined in marriage to Rebecca, daughter of Simeon Summers of Clinton county, KY., a respected farmer and gallant soldier, having served in the same regiment as Mr. Livingston. Four children have been born to our subject and his wife as follows: Henry W., married Alice, daughter of W. C. Martin, of this county; they have one child, Hallie. Ella is the wife of Jordan Morris, and lives in Labette county with their four children ---Fay, Irene, Don and Dallas; William, of Liberty, a barber, and Jessie M., carrier of Rural Route No. 3, from her father's office. Miss Jessie is one of those independent, self-reliant Kansas girls who is not afraid to work. Her route covers $23\frac{1}{2}$ miles and she makes it in all kinds of weather.

One of the well known of the later settlers of Montgomery county is John C. Page, of Independence township, whose lot was cast here in April, 1883. He purchased eighty acres in section 6, township 33, range 16, known as the Wiley Wise farm. He came here from Crawford county, Illinois, where he was born on the 17th of December, 1824. His was one of the old families of the "Prairie State," his father having migrated thereto in 1818, the year of the admission of the state into the union. Jesse Page, father of our subject, emigrated from Virginia to the new state on the prairie. He was a son of Robert Page whose three sons, David, Joel, and Jesse, settled in Illinois. Jesse Page spent his life as a tiller of the soil and in 1854 he married Polly Arnold who lived to the age of eighty years. Illinois was not yet rid of its Indian population when the Pages settled there and for some years afterward they roamed at will about the homes of the new settlers. It was the Miami tribe that our subject remembers distinctly as being and affiliating with the pioneers of Crawford county. Jesse Page's children were: Robert A., who died in Oregon; Benjamin, who died in Illinois; Rachel, of Flat Rock, Illinois, married Samuel Stark; John C., Pinninnah, of Martinsville, Illinois, is the wife of William Patterson; James, who died at Hebron, Illinois; and two died young.

John C. Page passed his childhood and youth amid surroundings very primitive and rude. The country schools of his day afforded him his elementary education and at twenty years old he spent a year in the city schools of Terre Haute, Indiana. He became a teacher at the conclusion of this school year and was engaged actively and successfully in the work for seven years. He became a farmer about this time, in a small way, and began the improvement of a new farm. His record as a teacher induced his political friends to make him a candidate for the office of county superintendent and to this he was elected in 1860. He filled the office so satisfactorily that he was reelected in two years for a second term. At the close of his public service he engaged in other business but was called to serve in another official capacity in 1866 by his election to the office of county treasurer in which he also served four years. Going out of office in 1870, he took up farming and never afterward filled an office of such responsibility. He continued his efforts at farming till 1883, when he disposed of his interests in Illinois and came to Montgomery county, Kansas.

In January, 1851, Mr. Page married Fidelia Newlin, a daughter of Nathaniel Newlin and Elizabeth, his wife. The Newlins came to Illinois from North Carolina about 1816 and were a large and numerous family. Of this marriage, Mr. Page is the father of : Harry, of El Paso, Texas; Geneva, wife of John Ferguson, died at Emporia, Kansas leaving three children; Eulalia, deceased wife of George Higgins, died at Neodesha, Kansas, in 1887; and Chester, of Paris, Texas. Fidelia Page died in 1863, and the next year Mr. Page married Phebe Meeker, who bore him: Belle, wife of James Doily, of Mayfield, Kansas; Emma, a teacher of Cripple Creek, Colorado, was educated in Marshall, Illinois and is single; Olive, of Ft. Worth, Texas is the wife of E. C. Cochran, editor of one of the Fort Worth papers. Mr. Page was married a third time, Feb. 17, 1875, to Mary Smith, a daughter of A. J. and Elizabeth Smith of Johnson county, Indiana, where Mrs. Page was born September 18, 1845. A. J. Smith was born in New Jersey and his wife, nee Elizabeth Darrell, was born in Indiana. Mr. Smith died in 1897, in Johnson county, Indiana, at the age of seventy-three. His children were: Mrs. Page, Ursula, deceased wife of James Balser; Sarah, who married Wallace Bears and resides in hiteland, Ind.; and Martha, now Mrs. George Darrell, of Johnson county, Indiana. Mr. Page and his present wife are the parents of one child, a son, Manford, who married Rose Carle and has a son, Alfred C.

The political history of the Pages is told in one word --- Democracy, Our subject was elected to public office as such in Illinois and he affiliated with the same part in Kansas. He was prominent in the Farmers' Alliance in Montgomery county and supported heartily, fusion, as opposed to the dominant party, and is in harmony with the Bryan idea as expressed at Kansas City.

JAMES HAMILTON STEWART

The late subject of this review was one of the substantial, worth and honored citizens of Independence, township, Montgomery county, Kansas. He became identified with its affairs as a farmer on his entrance to the county in 1883 and from thence forward to his sudden taking off won the regard of his fellow townsmen.

Mr. Stewart settled on section 23, township 33, range 15, in which he owned one hundred and sixty acres, well tilled and profitable. When he took possession of it a small stone house, a shed for stock and some plowed land were the extent of its improvements. Being from Pennsylvania, from which state come nothing less than efficient men, he was possessed of the plans for a pattern farm and industry to carry it out. General farming occupied his attention and his prosperity showed itself in the ever-advancing condition of his premises. He was no less worthy as a citizen than as a farmer. He believed in and practiced the golden rule. Right was always right with him and it won him the universal regard of his neighbors. He was a man of conviction and when he took a position it took evidence to remove him. His prejudice in favor of some family custom may have given rise to some friendly criticism of him but his heart was right and he never intentionally gave personal offense. He had a firm belief in the reward after death and the teachings of the Holy Word served to guide him in his daily walk. He was a member of the Jefferson congregation of the Methodist church and when he died, November 8, 1897, one of its substantial supports was taken away.

In Washington, county, Pennsylvania, Mr. Stewart was reared but his birth occurred near Bethany, West Virginia, on the 24th of January, 1841. He was the son of a farmer, James H. Stewart. His mother was Sarah Balwin (sic) a daughter of Levi Baldwin, a blacksmith who had the distinction of once having shod the horse of General Washington, as that officer was passing through Pennsylvania. When Mr. Stewart was five years old his father died and his mother then took her family to Washington county, Pennsylvania where she remained till her death in 1894. Her children were: James H., of this notice; Thomas, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Elizabeth J. widow of Robert Sweeny, of Wheeling, West Virginia; William, of Chattanooga, Tennessee; Annie, wife of Jacob Laughman, deceased of Washington county, Pennsylvania.

James H. Stewart acquired a country school education, or perhaps, better, a common school one. and learned his trade before the war came on. He enlisted for the struggle in 1861, in company "C", Twenty-second Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. He served with the Army of the Potomac in the Shenandoah Valley and his regiment formed a part of Sheridan's cavalry. He took part in Hunter's Raid and the Battle of Cedar Creek and remained in the service until the war was over. Returning to civil life he resumed his trade which he followed till he started to Kansas.

December 20, 1866, Mr. Stewart married Elizabeth R. Deltas, a daughter of John Deltas and Margaret Geyer, husband and wife, both of German birth. Mr. Deltas died in Baltimore, Maryland in 1885, and his wife preceded him two years. Their native province was Wittenburg. Their children were: Amelia, married Charles Schmidt and died Washington county, Pennsylvania, in 1892 Rosa, who died in Chicago in 1896, was the wife of Charles Leonheaus; Mary, of Baltimore, Maryland, is the wife of James Bamber; Catherine, of the same city, is now Mrs. Bishop Carnan; Maggie, single and residing in Baltimore; John, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Stewart, who was born April 17, 1847.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart are: William H of Niotaze, Kansas; James H. of Cherryvale; George W., of Independence; Mary E., Charles S., Samuel H., Estella O. and Lulu E., all at home except Samuel who resides in Kansas city.

Mr. Stewart took a warm and patriotic interest in county politics. He was a Republican and was often a delegate to party conventions. He was a member of the Grand Army and interested himself generally in whatever seemed for the upbuilding and welfare of his county. He contracted rheumatism, while in the army and was afflicted all his remaining years, this being the prime cause of his sudden demise.
