Independence, Kansas

Dec 11, 1897

A. J. Hagerman 83, and Mrs Elizabeth Mooney 71, were quietly married last night, the old couple had intended to get married last month, but their relatives found it out and prevented it. Mr hagerman left on a visit immediately but returned last night and they were secretly married. Both are old residents of the city.

EARLY SETTLERS IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY HISTORY

EDWARD TRIBLE

An early settler of Montgomery county who has emphasized his presence here by positive and substantial life achievements, is Edward J Tribel of Rutland township. February, 1870, marks his advent to the county, at which early date he combined the business of a freighter with that of a settler, and entered a tract of the public lands in Independence, township, as a starting point in his citizen career. He came to the county with mules and ox teams laden with four and corn which he sold to the Osages, then quartered in their village about over the county and the farm which William Brust now owns is the site where Mr Tribel put forth his maiden efforts on a Kansas farm.

Edward Tribel, like other pioneers, made his first home in Montgomery county in a log hut, which he erected with his own hands. His stable matched his house and a "shanghai" fence enclosed his field. Chief Nopawalla's camp was only a fourth of a mile from him and a friendly intercourse between the settler and the Aborigines was maintained. In 1872, Mr Tribel went on a buffalo hunt, fifty miles west of his claim, and killed all the meat he could haul. At that date Butler and Cowley counties, and all the country west of there, was full of that large game, and it served the pioneers in good stead during a scarcity of native meat and short crops. This meat our subject sold at Joplin, Missouri, and in that vicinity he remained, working about the lead mines, for three years, returning thence to Montgomery county and settling the farm he now owns. He was then without means, so to speak, and he roughted it and starved it until Providence came to his rescue with earth's bounteous crops. He lived in a log cabin here, too, and the temporary buildings of the modest farmer covered him "till their destruction by fire, in 1892, when the home of the present day arose

He is located on a tract of school land in section 36, township 32, range 14, and is classed among the thorough-going and thrifty citizens of his township. Dec 25th, 1844, Mr Tribble, of this sketch, was born in Devonshire, England. He grew up there to the age of fourteen years, when he sailed for America and landed at Quebec, Canada. He went direct to Alton, Illinois and thence to Macoupin county, that state, where he resided until 1867. In the spring of 1864, he enlisted at Camp Butler, Ill. in Co. F 133rd Vol Inf. Capt Dugger and Col Phillips. He did guard duty at Rock Island, Ill during his entire service and was mustered out at his place of enlistment Dec 1865. After spending a short time at home he emigrated to Barton Co Mo., from which point he started on his journey to Ks. and to Montgomery Count.

Edward J Tribbee was a son of John Tribble whose father and mother were the parents of John, Edward, Abraham and Samuel. John Tribble married Mary Oliver in Devonshire, and was the father of six children as follows Mrs Grace Elred of Carlinville, Ill., Mrs Elizabeth Hobson of Carrolton, Mo. Mrs Mary Fink of Lamar, Mo. , John of Girard, Ill., Margaret wife of Peter Denby and Edward J

On 1872 Mr Tribble married Mary J Compton a native of Ross County Ohio and a daughter of Wilson and Sarah Brake Compton. The issue from this marriage is six children namely, Mrs Maude Treer, with children Glenn and Audra, Mrs Grace Furgeson, Wiltz of Kansas City, Ks., Magie, Elbirt and Blanche .

The first wheeled vehicle known in England was made by John Oliver the maternal great grandfather of Mr Tribble. He lived in the county of Devonshire, where the family annals have existed from a very early time.
