This index includes all marriages filed in Book A, Miller County, Missouri, marriage records. It covers a period from February 8, 1837 to March, 1870, and lists over 1,500 marriages.

Entries in Book A lists the original page number, name of the groom and bride, date of marriage, and the name of the officiant. Entries are arranged with the alphabetical listing of the names of the grooms. It is assumed that all were residents of Miller County unless otherwise stated.

A Bride Index (called female index) appears in the back of this book. The order of listing is the maiden name, given name, and her married name in capital letters. This index is alphabetized and arranged by the bride's maiden name.

There are possible instances where the same marriage is recorded twice. Where a question mark (?) is shown, it signifies an inability to read the penmanship.

A serious effort was made to copy each name and other information as it appeared in the original record. Many hours were spent re-checking many entries, under magnification, to copy the record as it exists without alteration whatsoever. Because of the poor quality of penmanship of some County Recorders, errors will occur--and while the persons responsible for this publication are not infallible, an honest and unbiased effort was made to copy the record as it exists.

Researchers should be cautioned to check the various ways any name could possibly be spelled as it appears to the printer that phonetic spellings was recorded.

Miller County was originally a part of Cole County. On February 6, 1837, there was approved by the governor "An act to organize the county of Miller and to define the southern boundary of Cole." The area comprising Miller County was first settled by white persons about 1821. By 1840, three years after erection of the county, the census shows a total of 2,171 persons residing in Miller County.

Certified copies of marriages are available, for a fee, from the office of the Clerk and Recorder, Court House, Tuscumbia, Missouri, 65082.

Thelma Scott Hickok, 114 North Aurora, Eldon, Missouri, 65026, expresses grateful appreciation to the following for helping in this work: Courthouse officials; staff members of the Missouri State Historical Society Library, Columbia, Mo.; and to her many friends who furnished transportation.
