STE. GENEVIEVE COUNTY

The section comprising Ste. Genevieve County was about the first part to be explored of the present State of Missouri. In 1705 a party of French ascended the Mississippi River as far as Missouri. In 1712 Jesuit missionaries established a monastery at Kaskaskia on the east side of the Mississippi, opposite the site of the present city of Ste. Genevieve. Trappers, traders and a French Mining Company soon followed. Traditionally, 1735 is set as the date of Ste. Genevieve's founding, the first permanent white settlement in Mo. The area was originally a part of the Louisiana Purchase of 1803, and the following year a Probate Court was established in Ste. Genevieve. When the Territory of Missouri was organized in 1812, Ste. Genevieve was one of the five original counties. The county was reduced to its present limits by a legislative act in 1820.

An article entitled "Earliest Missouri Records" was published in the National Genealogical Society Quarterly in 1916, beginning with the April issue. The records were copied from the "First Book" of the Old Church of Ste. Genevieve by Mrs. Ida M. Schaff of St. Marys, Mo. There are a few Baptisms and Marriages, some as early as 1760, but for the most part the records consist of Burials from about 1767 to 1820. A majority of the surnames found in these ancient records reappear in the marriages in this book. The Quarterly may be found in most large libraries.

Introduction

The 1460 marriages here presented were transcribed from a microfilm copy of the original Book "A", filmed by the compiler in the office of the Recorder in Ste. Genevieve County.

Book "A", the oldest marriage record in the courthouse, is not complete. It includes marriages from 1807, when the area was still a part of the Louisiana Territory, through 1827, and then from the year 1842 to 1866. The pages of Book "A" are numbered by hand and there are no pages missing. It appears that a new Recorder came into office in 1842, at which time he started a new marriage book, now known as Book "A". On the first 14 pages he copied the early marriage records from a former register (1807-1827) that is no longer in existence. By including the dates when the marriages were "recorded", he proves the existence of the earlier register, not merely a collection of loose papers or Minister's Returns. The Recorder completed this old register in the middle of page 14, and with no explanation regarding the fate of the records between 1828-1841, he continued with the current marriages. A comparison of the script indicates that the same person recorded all of the marriages and kept the index from the beginning of Book "A" until the year 1852.

The full names of the groom and bride are given in the Index. Every name in this book has been checked against the Index, not once, but in some instances, many times. The compiler has tried to copy the names exactly as they are spelled in the original book, making no changes even though it is obvious that many of the names were misspelled. In some instances the name shown in the index does not seem to agree with that given in the marriage entry. Where that occurs, the index version is placed in brackets. If the reader is in doubt about the interpretation of a name, it is suggested that she go to the original book. The first scribe, who recorded about half of the marriages in Book "A", seldom closed the letter "a" and thus it is most difficult to distinguish between the "a", "u", and "ee". His capital "L" and "S" are almost identical, and there are many other similarities.

The names of the parents are given in many of the marriages performed by ministers, and often the mother-of-the-groom, the first female name to appear in the entry, is incorrectly indexed as the bride. There are many French and German names in this book, thus the compiler sought the assistance of her co-worker, Miss Nadine Hodges, to check the microfilm and interpret some of the more difficult names. Miss Hodges also abstracted the "Marriage Contracts" written in French.

All information of genealogical interest has been abstracted. A "Key" to the names of the ministers and officials who performed the ceremonies will be found in this book, beginning on page 59. The pen drawings used in this book are the work of William A. Guyselman, Recorder of Macon County, Missouri, 1860-1870, and are found in Marriage Book "E" of Macon Co.

Note by Compiler - Marriage Book "A" was numbered by hand. There are no pages missing in the Register. I believe a new Recorder came into office in 1842 at which time he started this book. It appears that he first copied the early marriages (1807-1827) from a former book, and started the index. He completed the record in the middle of page 14, and then continued with the current records. There is a period of about 14 years (1828-1840) when no marriages were recorded. The script in the Index compares with that in the Register, indicating that the same Clerk (name not given) kept this book from it's beginning until about 1852. A few additional marriages performed between 1827-1839 were discovered in the year 1855 and recorded on page 94.
