<sup>1</sup>His father, known later as Colonel Charles Pinckney, was a son of William Pinckney and Ruth Brewton, his wife, and a nephew of Charles Pinckney, sometime chief-justice of the province. His mother was Frances Brewton, daughter of Col. Robert Brewton, and her husband's first cousin. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1779, when but a little over twenty-one. He was at that time a captain in the Charles Town Regiment of militia and participated in the siege of Savannah, October 9, 1779. He was several times a delegate to the Continental Congress and was one of South Carolina's delegates to the convention which framed the Constitution of the United States in 1787, and submitted thereto a plan which was largely used by the committee that prepared the Constitution. He was a delegate to the South Carolina convention which ratified the Constitution in 1788. In 1789, he was elected governor and was re-elected in January, 1791, for the short term ending in December, 1792, in accordance with the change made by the state constitution of 1790. He was president of the convention of 1790 which adopted a new constitution for the state. He was again elected governor in December, 1796, and in December, 1798, was elected United States Senator to succeed John Hunter, resigned, and also for the full term beginning March 4, 1799. In 1801, he was appointed by President Jefferson Minister to Spain; retired in 1805 and was returned to the state House of Representatives to fill a vacancy for Christ Church Parish, October 22, 1805; was elected governor for the fourth time, in December, 1806; was returned to the state House of Representatives in 1810 and 1812, and was sent to Congress in 1818, retiring March 4, 1821. He died October 24, 1824. (See The South Carolina Historical and Genealogical Magazine, Vol. II, pages 128-148.)

'She was married in December, 1780, to Lieutenant Archibald ("Mad Archie") Campbell, of the 71st (British) Regiment. He was killed at the battle of Videau's Bridge, in St. Thomas and St. Denis's Parish, and his wife died a few days after, leaving an infant, who was brought up by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Robert Williams. This infant, Margaret Philp Campbell, married in 1799, Robert Deas. The marriage of "Mad Archie" and Margaret Philp was an elopement and not an abduction, as stated by an account given in Johnson's Traditions of the Revolution and in Katherine Walton, by W. Gilmore Simms. The story has been variously distorted by the many writers who have made use of it. (See page 153 for marriage of her parents.)
