Former Catholic bishop marries

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — James P. Shannon, former Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop of Minneapolis-St. Paul, expects to teach his regular class at St. John's College here.

He said Sunday he would remain in the church despite his marriage, but a former colleague said the nuptials automatically excommunicated him.

Shannon, 48, and his bride, the former Ruth Church Wilkinson, 50, a Protestant who was previously married three times, returned here Saturday night, according to Richard Weigle, president of the college.

The couple was married Aug. 2 in Endicott, N.Y., by a Protestant minister, the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat and Chronicle reported Sunday. Shannon then issued a statement to the New York Times acknowledging the marriage.

"I do not intend to leave the Catholic Church. It is my spiritual home. I love it dearly and have worked to the best of my ability as one of its priests for 23 years," he said.

But the Most Rev. Leonard P. Cowley, auxiliary archbishop of the Minneapolis-St. Paul diocese, said in Minneapolis: "By marrying, he incurred excommunication, there's no need for a declaration of it."

In New York, experts in church law said Shannon's marriage violated Canon 2388 of the official code: "Clerics in major orders and all persons who presume to contract marriage with those clerics automatically incur excommunication."

Bishop Cowley said Shannon could still issue sacraments validly but that such action was against the law of the church. He said the marriage could have been legal within the church if Shannon had "received the dispensation to marry beforehand and married a person who was free to marry."

Shannon, in his statement, said, "It is a source of sadness and regret for both of us now that because of our marriage it will no longer be possible for me to serve the people of God as a priest or as a bishop."

Shannon said he had written Pope Paul VI to assure him "that I have no intention of trying to function as an un-
