PREFACE

In collecting these inscriptions, I have tried to locate all known burial places in these towns. In many cases this has been difficult. Old family burying grounds have been neglected and are now almost forgotten. Stones are broken and half buried. Small trees and underbrush cover the entire lots, making them almost inaccessible.

Many of these burial places were originally near the family home but now the old houses have gone and what was then a sacred spot is now only a part of a well wooded pasture. In one place where more than 100 people are said to be buried, only three stones could be found and these were lying on the ground.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

Furthermore, it is noted that the records should be kept in a secure and accessible format. Regular backups are essential to prevent data loss in the event of a system failure or disaster. The document also mentions the need for periodic audits to ensure the integrity and accuracy of the information stored.

In addition, the text highlights the role of technology in streamlining record-keeping processes. Modern accounting software can automate many tasks, reducing the risk of human error and saving valuable time. However, it is stressed that users must be properly trained to utilize these tools effectively.

Overall, the document serves as a comprehensive guide for anyone responsible for financial record-keeping. It provides clear instructions and best practices to ensure that all records are maintained in a professional and compliant manner.

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and their corresponding addresses. The names are written in a cursive hand, and the addresses are in a more formal, printed style. The list is organized in a columnar format, with names on the left and addresses on the right.

2. The second part of the document is a series of short, handwritten notes or entries. These notes are written in the same cursive hand as the names in the first part. They appear to be a continuation of the information or a set of related observations.

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses, similar to the first part. However, the handwriting is more varied, and some of the names are written in a different style, possibly indicating a different set of records or a different group of individuals.

4. The fourth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes, similar to the second part. These notes are written in the same cursive hand and appear to be related to the information in the third part.

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, similar to the first and third parts. The handwriting is consistent with the other parts of the document, and the format is the same.

6. The sixth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes, similar to the second and fourth parts. These notes are written in the same cursive hand and appear to be related to the information in the fifth part.

7. The seventh part of the document is a list of names and addresses, similar to the first, third, and fifth parts. The handwriting is consistent with the other parts of the document, and the format is the same.

8. The eighth part of the document is a series of handwritten notes, similar to the second, fourth, and sixth parts. These notes are written in the same cursive hand and appear to be related to the information in the seventh part.

Inquiries regarding those who sleep in the old unmarked graves have brought me very little information. As far as the younger generation is concerned, these are indeed forgotten places.

I have been somewhat more fortunate in my quest for information regarding the families of those whose names I have recorded.

I do not vouch for the accuracy of these statements; neither did my informants. I can only say that the neighbors say that:

Most of these old Sedgwick families came from Massachusetts. The Allens from Andover and Salem. Jonathan Allen, son of Nehemiah is said to have been one of the first white children born in Sedgwick. He married Lois Morgan. They became the parents of twelve children. One of them, Nathaniel, born June 29, 1797 at North Sedgwick, was the first Postmaster in the town. His wife was Ruth R., daughter of Samuel Herrick. The Herrick family came from Beverly, Mass. Joshua Herrick and his wife Huldah.

From Winham came the Coles and from Gloucester, the Sargents, Lufkins, Haskells and Curriers. Susanna, a daughter of Witham Currier, married, before 1780, Solomon Haskell. The Haskells came first to Deer Isle and later to Sedgwick.

here from Haverhill and a sister, Abigail Eaton, married Richard Currier.

The Grindles--Joshua, Daniel, William and John--came here from Berwick. Daniel settled in West Sedgwick and it is his descendents who are buried here. (See Camp Stream Cemetery) Probably Daniel and Sarah Gray, his wife, are buried in one of the unmarked graves.

William Grindle, brother of Daniel, married Eunice Howard and lived in Sedgwick for some years, later moving to Penobscot. Seth Grindle, son of William and Eunice, married Dorcas Davis. He was a deep water sailor and during the last years of his life, he "kept a navigation school" at his home at Snow's Cove, West Sedgwick. Seth and his sister, Susanna, who married George Snow, are buried in the cemetery at Snow's Cove. Also buried in this cemetery (Graves unmarked) are Joshua Snow and his wife, parents of George and grandparents of Richard. It is said that Joshua and a brother were adopted sons of Joshua Snow and his wife. These brothers are said to have been orphans whose real names were Phillips.

Very faint, illegible text at the top of the page, possibly a header or title.

Two paragraphs of very faint, illegible text in the middle section of the page.

The Dority's (Dougherty) came from Ireland. Their early home was in that part of Sedgwick that is now Brooklin. Capt. Robert Dority, known as "Master Robert" was a well known ship builder in Sedgwick. His wife was Sarah Sargent. Horace Dority, their son, married Ruby Herrick, daughter of Joshua and Ann Herrick. He was town clerk for 43 years.

The Carletons, David and Molly, settled on the eastern side of the Benjerin River. Their first child, Molly, was born in 1777. Other children were:

Dudley	Rozella
David	Louisa
Roland

Col. David Carleton married Susanna Merrill. He kept store near the bridge in Sedgwick for many years.

The Watson family were among the early Sedgwick families to cultivate large farms. Joshua Watson owned the first herd of Red Durham cattle in town.

Capt. Robert Byard and Abigail, his wife, were one of the first families to settle in Sedgwick. They were the parents of ten children. The eldest, Abigail, was born in 1765. The men of this family were well known sea captains. Even now, older residents remember tales told by their fathers regarding the adventures of those who shipped with Capt. Robert, Capt. Jim, or Capt. John Byard. Edward Byard of Sedgwick, Maine is a member of this family.

Sixty years ago what is now known as Oak Hill, West Sedgwick was called Staples Hill and the homes on the hill and on either side made up the Staples Neighborhood. Familiar names were: John, Ned, Arno, Sol, Jotham, and Frank Staples and here in the Staples' Hill Burying ground they laid their dead, but today there is no family bearing this name in West Sedgwick and very few are left in town.

The Gray family have been in Sedgwick for more than a century and a half. John, Andrew, Joshua, Reuben, Jonathan, Samuel. Today, many of their descendents are living in town and a family reunion is held every year.
