ANDREW COUNTY MARRIAGES 1841 to 1856

Andrew County, Missouri was organized in January of 1841. See Part II of this book.

The following marriages were copied from the original marriage books in the courthouse at Savannah, Missouri. The first book "A" covered years 1841 to 1848. Book "B" continued from there. Many years ago, some county clerk re-copied the marriages contained in the original books "A" and "B" into a new ledger and designated it book "A". The first book "A" is a rather long, narrow book and the entries were in the handwriting of the persons who performed the marriages, and often extremely difficult to read. All of the transcribed book "A" is in one handwriting. When there was a doubt as to a name, the two books were compared, but there were still instances when one could not be sure of the spelling.

It is obvious that many of the names were misspelled, probably spelled the way they sounded to the recorder. This compiler has endeavored to maintain the original spelling in spite of the apparent error. It is suggested that the searcher pronounce to himself any name which is in doubt. For instance, the name of Searles is spelled Sirls, Surles, Serls, according to the person who entered the record.

An entry number was given to each marriage record entered in these books. However, when a minister or justice of the peace entered several marriages at one time, he sometimes used only one number to enter several marriages.

The marriages were often recorded several months after the date of the marriage. The dates given here are those given as the date on which the marriages were performed. The ministers and justices did not visit the courthouse often, and made several entries when they did go there. It makes one wonder if some marriages were never recorded.

In this book, the marriages have been alphabetized according to the name of the groom. Although all surnames are included in the index, it is suggested that the searcher take time to check each page since names are not always spelled the way they are today.

EARLY SETTLERS OF ANDREW COUNTY, MISSOURI

Until February 1837 when the treaty with the Indians, signed in the fall of 1836, was ratified, resulting in the "Platte Purchase", all of the territory west of a line extending northward from Jackson County, through Clay County, etc., was Indian territory and not open to settlement by the white man. Some men had ventured into the area before that time, but were not allowed to remain. However, knowing that the territory would be opened for settlement, many people were prepared to go in and select their sites and begin improvements as soon as possible after the opening. The Platte Purchase consisted of the area covered by the present counties of Platte, Buchanan, Andrew, Holt, Nodaway and Atchison Counties in Missouri.

At the time of its formal organization in January 1841, Andrew County included the territory covered by the present county of Nodaway. In 1845 Nodaway County was formed from the northern part of Andrew, and records for persons living in that area prior to 1845 should be found in Andrew County.

The information in the following pages were copied almost verbatim from the "History of Andrew and DeKalb Counties, Mo." published in 1885 by Goodspeed, which gives an excellent account of the early settlers of Andrew County. Since not many copies of this book are in existence today and since they are not readily available to most searchers, this compiler believes it worthwhile to include here most of the chapter devoted to an account of the early settlers. Please bear in mind that when mention is made of the term "now" or "at the present time", it refers to the time shortly before publication of the book in 1885.

Although many of the early settlers of Andrew County moved there from older counties in Missouri, many of them came directly from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, etc. Some members of many of the families went on to become pioneer settlers of Oregon, Washington and California.

In the fall of 1836, shortly after the signing of the treaty with the Indians who had occupied the territory in what became the Platte Purchase (but apparently before the Purchase had been ratified by the government), one Joseph Walker, a Kentuckian, emigrated to this part of the "Purchase" from Clay Co., and became the pioneer of the settlers of Andrew Co. He selected a home site in the eastern part of what is now Lincoln Township and built a small round pole cabin for the immediate needs of his family. Situated as he was, the only white settler within a radius of 20 miles or more, his house was hardly sufficient to meet the demands of travelers and home hunters who sought shelter. He remained a resident of the county until his death.

Samuel Crowley, native of Georgia, but at that time a resident of Clay Co., in the spring of 1837 selected a home in what is now Jefferson Township, to which he moved his family the following fall. He was a member of the first county court. He had five sons: James, John, G. W., Samuel, and Thomas, all of whom can be classed among the early settlers. The last three still reside in the county (1885).

In March of 1837, Jeremiah Clark settled on Lincoln Creek, in what is now Jackson Township, and later moved a short distance north of Savannah. Mr. Clark was a graduate of Dartmouth College. He was commissioned by President Jackson to survey government lands in Illinois, from which State he moved to Missouri. He was employed in a similar capacity after locating in Andrew Co., and was also the pioneer mill builder in this part of the country. He died in Andrew Co. in 1877.

Jeptha and Zephaniah Todd, two brothers, settled in the southwest corner of Jefferson Twp., in 1837, moving from Clay Co., which county furnished many of the early settlers of the Platte Purchase. In 1837, John Carr settled in Jackson Twp. He came from Ohio, and was accompanied by Upton Rohrer and Hamilton Smith, the former a member of the first county court and the latter, one of the earliest physicians of this part of the country. James Officer, a native of Kentucky, settled in Lincoln Township in 1837.

Settlement on what is known as "Hackberry Ridge" in Lincoln, Jackson and Nodaway Townships, dates from the late 1830's, and among the first in that locality was Jesse Calvert, a Kentuckian, who made his first improvements about 4½ miles west of the present Savannah. Calvin S. Cameron settled west of Savannah in 1837 or 1838, and about the same time, Thomas Stanton, from Kentucky, settled on "Hackberry" on the edge of present Jackson Twp., locating the place where his son, Hon. John L. Stanton, now lives (1885). Jeremiah Stanton, a brother of Thomas, settled in the same neighborhood, as did an uncle, William Stanton, who improved the place where his son, Thomas, now lives.

Fielding Peters settled near the Cameron place in 1838 or 1839, at which time there was living in the same neighborhood, one Nathan Culp, a brother-in-law of Cameron, who set out the first orchards in Andrew Co.

Robert Elliott pre-empted land where Cameron settled, but did little toward improving it, selling out in a short time, and engaging in the mercantile business with his son-in-law, John W. Samuels. Their store, several miles northwest of Savannah, was the first establishment of the kind in Andrew Co.

Joseph and Edward Brock settled four miles northwest of Savannah, late in the thirties, the former improving the farm where his widow now lives. They were Kentuckians. Joseph Brock committed suicide a few years ago during a fit of temporary insanity.

John D. Bowland settled about six miles west of Savannah, and was one of the early school teachers of the county. He died January 1, 1865.

Frank Wrightsman settled about four miles west of Savannah, and among other pioneers of the same locality were David Best, Elijah Martin, Mr. Fulton, Jerry Garner, Neri Garner and James Garner, all of whom came as early as 1838 or 1839.

Henry Duff, a native of Breathitt Co., Ky., settled in "Hackberry" in the Stanton neighborhood, in an early day, locating the place where his son, Henry C. Duff, now lives.

Prominent among the arrivals of the 1839 was John Riggin, who settled where he still lives on "Hackberry Ridge," three miles northwest of Savannah. Mr. Riggin is a native of Virginia, but came here from Michigan.

Others who settled in "Hackberry" in an early day were Nathan Culp, Lemuel Pendleton, Samuel Pendleton, Daniel Coffman, Jacob Cliser, Joshua Cliser, Ed. Cliser, James Cliser, Abram Hurst, Stephen Hurst, Morgan Hurst, Elijah Hurst, Russell Reynolds, Archibald Stevenson, John Kinney, Sr., John Kinney, Jr., George Kinney, John Kitchen, Benjamin Kitchen, William Kitchen, the Ennis brothers, Eli Cruner, William Reynolds, Hiram Stanley, Benjamin Davidson, Robert Davidson, Wayne Davidson, Gould Davidson, Henry Davidson, Philip Wilson, Sr., Philip Wilson, Jr., James Florence, Henry Sickles, S. Chapman, James Duncan, Walter Duncan, Thomas Duncan, Johnson Duncan, Obadiah Roberts, Arnett Roberts, William Roberts, Joseph Hair, Henry Hair, Jesse Job, David Hall, James Goodlow, Robert Goodlow, Oscar Goodlow, John Mackey, Edmund Gee, Spencer Gee, John Edwards, Richard Edwards, "Doc" Elliott, George Brand, John Brand, Reason Brand, James Lewis, Jos. Terhune, all of whom settled in what is now Lincoln and Jackson Townships.

Settlements were made in the vicinity of Savannah at an early date, but it is impossible to give a complete list as many remained but a short time and their names have been forgotten.

Of the early comers, however, was Gallant Rains, who located where Mr. Sutton now lives, adjoining the town plat of Savannah, as early as 1838. Mr. Rains was a native of Knox Co., Ky. The first county and circuit courts were held in 1841 at his house. Ezekiel Smith settled one-half mile south of Savannah in 1838, and at the organization of the county in 1841 was chosen sheriff. Another prominent settler near Savannah was Hon. Benjamin K. Dyer, the first commissioner of the county seat. John B. Collier, one of the first surveyors, settled near Savannah in the late thirties, as did William Yates and Jonathan Earles.

About the same time Price L. Hudgens, one of the prominent lawyers of the Platte country, settled four miles northwest of Savannah, but later moved to the city. In addition to being an attorney, he was minister of the Christian Church of Savannah for a number of years.

Duke Young and his three sons settled near the present site of Savannah in the late thirties or early forties, as did Mr. Petrie and Reuben Dougherty, the latter being one of the first settlers of the town.

Henry Todd moved to Andrew County from Indiana in 1837, locating about three miles northeast of Savannah in Nodaway Twp. He sold his claim within a short time, and after living in various parts of the country, moved to Gentry Co., Mo., where he died in 1870. His three sons, Moses, Isaac and John H., grew to manhood in Andrew Co., the last named, a prominent business man of Savannah, being one of the oldest residents of the country now living. (1885). Barnabas Adkins and John Evans, sons-in-law of Todd, came the same year and settled in the same locality.

Joseph Hurst located a few miles northeast of Savannah as early as 1837. Mr. Hurst was a conspicuous figure among the early settlers, having been a very large man, tipping the scales at a fraction over 300 pounds. During a revival meeting held by a pioneer minister of the Baptist church, he identified himself with the church, and is said to have been the first person baptized in the One-Hundred-and-Two River. He had three sons, Edward, Hiram and William Hurst, come the same year. Among other early settlers of Nodaway Township were John Cox, three northeast of Savannah; Samuel Coffman, in the same neighborhood; a Mr. Wilson, an early school teacher three miles north of the county seat; John Stener, six miles north, where he still lives; Mr. Stanberry, on the One-Hundred-and-Two River; Mr. Cook, in the same locality; Calvin James, northwest of Savannah; Mr. Smith and sons, John, Ahi, Samuel, "Alie", and Logan; the Davidson family, consisting of the father and three sons, Ned, James and Anderson; Fred Wyatt, Mr. Nichols, Nicholas Graham, F. Owens, Samuel Woodcock, William Ellis, Henry Bain, Greenbury Mullmix, Benjamin McCrury, William Burs, Henry Selecman, all of whom became residents as early as 1844.

Edwin Toole settled a short distance south of Savannah in the late thirties, but before 1841 moved to town and became the first clerk of the circuit and county court. Rev. E. A. Carson, a native of Tennessee, in company with his father-in-law, Joshua Ewing, came to Andrew County from Virginia in 1840, and settled in the Stanton neighborhood northwest of Savannah. He purchased a claim of an early settler by the name of Nuckols, but after four years moved to Savannah. He was one of the earliest Presbyterian preachers in Andrew Co., and assisted in the organization of many of the early Presbyterian churches in the Platte country. He held the office of county clerk for some years.

SETTLEMENT OF TOWNSHIPS - Jefferson Twp.

As previously stated, the Crowley and Todd families were among the first in that part of Andrew known as Jefferson Twp. Among the first to seek a home in this part of the county was William Deakin, who came before 1839 and was a member of the first County Court.

James Herren settled near the central part of the township on Dillon Creek in 1837; and one year later, Abraham Dillon, for whom the creek was named, located in the same neighborhood and erected a small saw and grist mill. Peter P. Fulkerson settled on Dillon Creek by 1838 and was the first physician in the southern part of the county. Willis Gaines and Daniel B Holman settled in the Crowley neighborhood prior to 1839. Others who came about the same time were a Mr. Moody, Benj. Porter, Zachariah Moreland, Joseph Wagers, Richard Miller and Moses Cochran. The last named died within a short time after his arrival and was buried in Dec 1837, near Dillon Creek, his funeral being one of the first, if not the first, in the county.

Others who came from time to time and settled in various parts of Jefferson Twp. were Martin Sutton (an early judge of the Co. court), David Claypool, Reuben Claypool, William Blankenship and sons (Cole, Thos. and "Breck"), Charles Caples, Roger B. Pollard, George Comigee, Preston Richardson, James Owsley, Jacob Coffman and sons (Leroy and Thomas), William Richardson, Thomas and Christopher Todd, Frank M. Holman, Wesley Copeland. The Bright family, Conrad Eisaminger and John Eisaminger, across the line in Nodaway Twp; John Spence, John Thompson, Isaac K. Wright, Joseph Gibson, William Brown, William Pyburn (who settled originally near the present site of Savannah), Elvis Sloan, Mr. Daniels, William Hudson, David Hoppins, an early surveyor by the name of Hawkins, Jackson Fly, William Burnett, John Howell, Mr. Kent, James Gore, William and Samuel Ardray, Rev. David Ray, Samuel Miller and sons (William, Young E. & Finis), Jesse Cox, Eli Hughes, Peter Cox, Y. E. Hughes, Benj. Riddle, Mr. Beeler, Cornelius Gittam, Joshua Jenkins, A. G. Guthrie, Claiborne Davis, Robert Jones, a Mr. Spence and sons (John, James and Andrew), Harris Tharpe, Ozro Castle, Speed P. Wilson, B. Thornton and others.

Lincoln Township

Settlement within the present bounds of Lincoln Township dates from a very early day, and as already stated, the first settler of the county, Joseph Walker, chose his home in the northern part of it. Quite a number of settlers in the same locality have already been mentioned. One of the very early settlers in the southern part of the township near the present site of Amazonia was James Irwin who pre-empted a claim where John Mosser now lives (1885). Mr. Irwin moved from Clay Co., but does not appear to have remained very long, selling out in an early day to Joseph Jenkins, and going to another State. Wm. Clemmens was perhaps the next settler in the locality. He came from Ray County in the fall of 1837, selected his claim about 1½ mile east of Amazonia, returned for his family and the following spring found them all in their new home in the wilderness. Mr. Clemmens was a true pioneer. After the settlers became numerous in the vicinity of his home, he went to Oregon where he lived the rest of his life. His widow is still living in Lincoln Twp., the oldest person at this time in Andrew Co.

K. G. Bond moved from Indiana to the southern part of Lincoln Twp., in 1838, locating a short distance from Amazonia. After a few years on his original purchase, he moved to Clay Co., but later returned to Andrew where he died in 1867. His son, Hon. Joshua Bond, came in 1838 also, and has made his home in the county ever since, now living in the town of Amazonia.

Reuben and Batson Carroll settled near Jefferson Twp., in the spring of 1838, and at about the same time, two brothers by the name of Bonn settled on the Missouri River below Amazonia and secured a landing which was afterward known by the name of Bonn Town. Joseph Hunter, James Howell and Joseph Burnham were among other early settlers in the northern and western part of Lincoln Twp., and one of the early comers to the southern part was Peter Mosser, a native of Switzerland, who made an improvement half a mile east of Amazonia in 1841. Mr. Mosser was largely instrumental in inducing many of his countrymen to seek homes in this part of the West, and to such he extended liberal aid. These immigrants became in time very thrifty and prosperous citizens, and at this time a large portion of Lincoln Township is inhabited by a Swiss and German population.

Among the earliest settlers in the northwest part of Andrew County (Jackson Township) was John Lincoln, who made a home on the creek which bears his name as early as 1838. He moved here from Clay Co., and was a resident of Andrew until his death a few years ago. He built a mill a few miles from the village of Fillmore, one of the first enterprises of the kind.

James Templer moved from Ohio in the fall of 1838 and settled the Joseph Berry farm near Fillmore, which he sold to Berry in 1850. Mr. Berry moved to the township in the spring of 1839 and has been an honored resident of the same ever since. He is an Ohioan, as were also many of the pioneers in the northwest part part of the county. James Bradford and sons, James, John & Ezra, became residents of the township as early as 1839, settling about one mile south of Fillmore where another son, Jasper, now lives. The site of Fillmore was first settled by Levi Churchill and among the earliest residents in the immediate vicinity were Thomas Chambers, Andrew Chambers, Richard Dunn, James Dunn, Thomas Smithers and others.

Others who came to Jackson Twp. in an early day were the following: John D. Castle, John H. Cole, Jesse and R. M. Cole, Benj. Davis, Robert Davis, Enos Smithers, John Smithers, James Kenyon, John Griffith, Bryant Owsley, William Owsley, John Owsley, James Owsley, Samuel Owsley, Campbell Chrissman, Rufus Ayres, Samuel Kenyon, Thompson Kenyon, John, Squire, Washington & Jefferson Griffith, O. Y. Gregory, Walter B. Wells, Edward Wade, Henry Bowers and sons, George & John Bowers, Allen Crook, Isaac Crook, Peter Wykoff, Mr. Harper, John Connolly, Mr. Bunday, Joel Estes, Ellis Snuffin, Dr. Whittington, Dr. Dosier, James Berry, Robert Berry, John Huffman, Sr., James Huffman, Elisha Huffman, George Huffman, David Wardlow, William Wardlow, John Hunt, Gabriel Chrissman, Holmes Robinson, George Fultz, Reuben Tipton, David Brock, David Best, Isaac Best, "Buck" Best, --- Shoemaker, Samuel Shoemaker, Rufus Gregory, Frost Snow, Karen Laughlin, John Collins, Jesse Bird, Jacob Bird, J. E. Hare, James M. Gillespie, Harry Cole, Jerry Cole, Samuel Darnell, Thomas Darnell, Henry Duff, Benjamin Windom, A. W. Cornelison, James Whitton, Mr. Roark, Abel Bradford, Robert Davidson, Henry Bowers, William Florence, Sylvester Florence, Cyrus Rohrer, Calvin Rohrer, Mr. Carriger, Oliver Kerr, --- Simerly, Frank Simerly, William Simerly and A. P. Ashley.

The following were among the early settlers of what is now Clay Township: Cephas P. Woodcock, Jas. Duncan, Dr. John Pearson, Alfred Dyer, Albert G. Hollister, William Wade, Logan Dysart, Josiah Dysart, Finley Dysart, William McAllen, John McAllen, Mr. Dillon, Wm Pearson, the Davis family, Mr. Barker, Sampson Pearson, Daniel Thomas, Allen Cox, James Allen, Jesse Lowe, William Lance, Benj. Wardlow, Adam Lance, Ed. Owen, Wm Butts, Wm Stout, Lewis Jones, John McClasky, John Coffman, Allen Crook, John Newland, John Messick, Mr. Hiatt, Mr. Roach, John Long, David Lilly, Gabriel Slaughter, John Fortner, David Powers, John Powers, Mr. Lovelady, --- Praiswater, William Deboard, Mr. Stobuck, William Wade, Ed. Wade, John Hayes, John White, Joel Estes, George McDaniel, Hood Allison, John Collins, Reuben Borden, "Breck" Goldsberry, the Blakely family, P.J. Perkins, Dr. Dozier, Clai-borne Dyer, Miles Hale, Wm Wardlow and David Wardlow.

Rochester & Monroe Townships

This part of the county was settled in a very early day, and among the first pioneers was one Levi Thatcher, who laid claim to the land upon which the village of Rochester now stands, about the year 1838. He sold out to a Mrs. Kibby, whose sons erected a mill on the Platte River, which formed the nucleus of the town. The Kimberlins, John, Jacob, Geo. and Ferdinand, were early residents, as were Samuel Searles and sons, William, John, Joseph, James & Samuel Searles. Charles Farris, Littleton Matthews, Joshua Matthews, Jonathan Simmons, Joshua Casebeer, C. Casebeer, Maj. Tate, Benj. Piper, Sr., Benj. Piper, Jr., came when the country was new, and assisted in its material development. Others who came early were Robert White and sons (John & Henry White), Mr. Bookam (early merchant in Rochester Village), Benj. King, Carey Tate, Mr. Hungate, Henry T. Billis, Benj. McCreary (an early justice of the peace), Andrew Lykans, A. B. McDonald, Caleb Rinehart, Morgan Lewis, Z. F. Gillmore, Valentine Farrow, Alexander Graham, John B. Castle, Johnson King, Daniel Miller, Nehemiah, John, Andrew & Edward Thompson, George & Henry Kelley, Henry Carson, George Brown, Samuel Brown, Greenup Gibson, David McElroy, James Taylor, Rev. Thomas Clanton, Ezekiel Campbell and son, Andrew H. Campbell, Thomas Stout, Thomas Hobson, Elder Jordan Wright, Mr. Snowden and sons, James, Clay & Jonathan Snowden, James Parker, Daniel Parker, Breckenridge Beattie, Armstrong Beattie, James Beattie, Benj. R. Holt, Hardin Dysart, Meek Dysart, Richard McManus, Samuel Hayes, Jarvis Smith, Joseph Smith, C. C. Smith, the Schneider family, the Schindler family, Arch Lykans, --- Parker and William Parker.

The following settlers came a little later, but can be appropriately classed with the pioneers of the township: John Edmondson, William Caldwell and son, John R. Caldwell, Thomas J. Patton, Columbus Patton, John Files, Thompson Fox, George Ruby, Jacob Gum, John McIninch, Mr. Shannon, Mr. Snyder, John Teschmier, John Spence, John W. Belton, William Shreve, John D. Shreve, Abraham Bowman, Andrew Bowman, Daniel Vestal, John Vestal, Samuel Gibson, L. Kirtley, James Wells, Simon Mackey, James F. Strock and Absalom Baker.

Benton & Platte Townships

The early pioneers of Andrew County, like the settlers in all new counties, sought the timber lands first, and seemed to have looked upon the prairies as unfit for the abode of man. A large portion of the present townships of Benton and Platte being composed of prairie, they were not settled as early as the southern part of the county, but in the timbered portions improvements were made as long ago as 1840-41, perhaps a little earlier.

The following were among the earliest settlers within the limits of the two townships: Robert Graham, John Kellogg, Ezra B. Kellogg, Joseph Relwader, Casper Bowman, John Price, Jesse Gilliam, Redden A. Talle, W. B. Allen, William Southwood, John chandler, Thomas Roberts, Nathaniel Kellogg, C. P. Miller, John Baum, A. F. Owen, Jonathan Todd, Robert Herren, Allen Ashley, Charles Bradshaw, Sylvester Lanham, Bethel Allen, William Allen, Charles Merritt, Samuel T. Mason, John Upp, John D. Castle, Phillip Briggs, William Briggs, Henry Briggs, Benjamin Ogle, Robert Atkinson, Andrew and Jacob Shepherd, Mr. Ferguson, John Ferguson, B. D. Neely, Joseph Williams, Henry Miller, Thomas Vaughn, James Neely, William Murdon, John Wiles, Henry Best,

Empire Township

One of the first settlers in what is now Empire Township was Marshal McQuinn who, as early as 1839, pre-empted the farm now (1885) owned by John White at Flag Springs, which he sold about ten years later to Samuel Meek. Mr. McQuinn was a native of Kentucky, but little is known about him as he left the country as soon as he disposed of his claim. Mr. Meek improved the place and resided there until 1853 when he sold out to Mr. White, who had previously lived in what is now Rochester Township, having been one of the earliest settlers in that part. James Rowe settled a short distance northwest of Flag Springs as early as 1840, and at about the same time improvements were made in the same neighborhood by Mr. Gaddy, William Beagle, Martin Boyles, John A. Clark, James Clark, Joseph Snyder and others. George Boyles moved from Indiana about the year 1841, and purchased the Snyder place, upon which he lived till his death in 1879. His sons, M. B. and Oliver Boyles, are prominent residents of the township at this time. Henry Eppler moved to the country in 1841 and purchased a claim upon which a small improvement had been previously made by a Mr. Brown. Mr. Eppler was elected the first surveyor of Andrew County, and is the oldest resident of Empire Township now living. Solomon Yates, John Reno, Thomas Jasper, Samuel Allen, Stephen Beaty, Leonard Bowman, James Phillips, Mr. Ellison, Henry Meek, Nathaniel Simpson, Simpson and Richard Shepherd became residents early in the forties and are remembered as among the most substantial and trustworthy citizens of the county.

The northern part of Empire Twp., being almost exclusively prairie, was looked upon with suspicion by the early settlers.

and it was not until in the 1850's that the rich prairie lands began to be improved.

In addition to the foregoing lists, the following, with many others whose names were not learned, came in an early day, and settled in different parts of the county: Mr. Sickles, Peter Monroe, Wilburn Lankford, the Ent family, Benjamin Riddle, the Truax family, William T. Rush, Hiram Smith, George Walters, E. Fuller, Elisha Walters, Benjamin Williams, James Davidson, Joel Guffey, James Morrison, Elias Pittman, E. Lawhorn, Archibald Stephenson, Amaziah Wilson, Alex. Graham, J. F. Cox, William Bowen, Henderson Hardesty, Elisha Bennett, William Baker, Andrew Pettyjohn, Silas Turner, --- Riley, Joseph Robideaux, Jacob Hiltibiddle, Mr. Long, John Welsh, W. H. Rodgers, Joel Noland, James Johnson, Nathaniel Livingston, Zachariah Moreland, Jonathan Ward, M. Pettyjohn, George Size-more, R. W. Morrison, David Best, John Harris, Samuel Smith, L. Martin, E. B. Kellogg, Marcus Miner, Samuel Davis, James Howell, William Stokes, James Dunlap, H. M. Cafferty, Obadiah Roberts, Jonathan Cobb, Daniel Hartman, S. Reynolds, John Williams, Thomas Ritchey, Conrad Travis and John Hardesty.

After the year 1844 settlement of the county was quite rapid. A great many families came in, some from neighboring counties, and some direct from Kentucky, Tennessee and other States south and east. The early settlers sought the timber for various reasons. First, because they had been reared in a timbered country, they knew nothing of the prairies, and thought if the soil was too poor for forests, it was too poor to be cultivated. Second, they thought it impossible to survive the cold winters in such an exposed situation. Third, they preferred to remain where food was abundant. Fourth, they concluded to locate near some water course. Some of the early settlers learned the value of the prairie lands, and pushed out on the broad expanse despite the opposition of those who pretended to be wiser. Many of the first families merely squatted upon their farms, being too poor to pay the entry price until after the harvest of the first or second crop. Some had barely sufficient means to reach the new country; others had considerable means, and found it no difficult task to begin life in the backwoods.
