PLATTE COUNTY, MISSOURI

Immediately after ratification in February, 1837, of the treaty known as the Platte Purchase, the land which became Platte County was rapidly settled. Paxton says in his history that the would-be settlers gathered in Clay and Clinton Counties and dashed for the new territory as soon as the notice of Ratification was announced. "Jackson, Lafayette, Boone and Howard counties sent contingents, but Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee sent thousands." At the close of 1836, there were probably not more than a dozen white men in the territory as it was Indian reservation, but by the end of 1837, one history states that there was a settler on nearly every available quarter section of land.

In the beginning the area covered by present day Platte County was attached to Clay County for civil and military purposes, but a bill organizing Platte County was passed on December 31, 1838. Boundaries were designated as; on the east by the Clay County line, on the southwest by the Missouri River and on the north by a straight line to be surveyed from the Clay County line to the Missouri River, far enough up to include an area in the triangle thus forming the county equal to exactly 400 square miles. Under the law, the first term of the new county court was begun at the Falls of the Platte (now Platte City) on the 11th of March 1839.

The following marriages were copied from the original marriage book in the courthouse at Platte City, Missouri.

It is obvious that many of the names were misspelled, probably spelled the way they sounded to the recorder. This compiler has endeavored to maintain the original spelling in spite of the apparent error. It is suggested that the searcher pronounce to himself any name which is in doubt. For instance, the name Kuykendall is spelled Kuckenthall, and the name Fauntleroy is spelled Fonklroy & Fatleroy, according to the person who entered the record.

The marriages were often recorded several months after the date of the marriage. The dates given here are those given as the date on which the marriages were performed. The ministers and justices did not visit the courthouse often, and made several entries when they did go there. It makes one wonder if some marriages were never recorded. (see p.279)

A "Key" to the names of the ministers and officials who performed the ceremonies will be found in this book beginning on page 64. Their names are alphabetized and are not included in the surname index in this book.

This is to certify that I, A P Williams, a minister of the Baptist Church of Jesus Christ, was called upon on the 26 day of February 1847 by Mr Samuel McLain of Platte County and State of Missouri, to solemnize the rites of matrimony between him and his wife (formerly Sarah J Thompson) on the grounds that there was doubt whether her former husband was dead at the time of his and her marriage. There being satisfactory evidence of his death at this time, I proceeded to do so, at his residence on said day in the county aforesaid in the presence of John W Vineyard, Esq., as witnessed by my hand this 26 day of April 1847."
