In Memoriam

Mr. J. L. GRIFFIN

Forth he's fared from work with us
Forth upon the last great quest;
This world's fitful fever gone,
Peaceful now he lies at rest.

Long he wrought for others' good,
Yielding all at their behest,
Giving heart and mind and soul
Striving to attain the best.

One unselfish life like this
To the widest service bent,
Shows the truest way to use
All the heavenly talents lent.

We at least can truly prove
Feeling for our long-time friend,
Be, like him throughout our lives,
True as steel unto the end.

—THE WESTERNER,

Catherine Ross

Dedication

To Miss Catherine Ross, in appreciation of her untiring efforts to make our career in High School successful, the class of '25 dedicates this volume of the Nesika.

MISS PARSONS

History of the Class of '25

We entered old E. H. S. in the fall of '21, three hundred and fifty strong, tinted an emerald hue which would put any patch of clover to shame. Such a bright class, however, would lose no time in blooming. May Sievers guided us through this tender stage.

As Sophomores we established ourselves in many of the school activities. Our athletes began to show their ability, and much to the surprise of the upperclassmen, our girls ran off with the basketball and hockey championships. Adrian Bartholomew led us through this successful year.

When we were Juniors, under the reign of Bryce Wood, we were indeed prosperous. One of our members was on the state debate team; another was business manager of the Kodak. Our class carried away honors in both the boys' and girls' swimming meets.

John Sievers was chosen as our Senior Chief. Our play, "Nothing but the Truth," was a decided success. In football, basketball, baseball and track our men were stars. We again won the swimming meets and the interclass debate championship. We have gained an enviable reputation by our club activities and our Service League membership.

Thus ends the history of one of the most successful classes that ever entered Everett High School.

BERYL WILSON,

Will of the Class of '25

We, the class of 1925 of the Everett High School, realizing the utter impossibility of a probable extravasation amid hydrideterminant and glasynindal conditions apposop of our immediate departure, have reached the momentous occasion when all possessions, personal or otherwise, gifts, charms, acquisitions, liberties and idiosyncracies, must be gathered together and disposed of,

Therefore, we now lift a few sheets of Mr. Kempkes' butcher boy foolscap, and write while still in the possession of the majority of our facilities. Wishing to act in perfect accordance with past traditions, we now distribute, bestow, award, and bequeath these various possessions, collectively and individually, as follows:

First. Unto Principal Leo B. Baisden, our undying gratitude for his wise and kindly guidance during our sojourn at this institution of learning.

Second. To the Juniors, who will take our places, we leave an unexcelled example of a real, honest-to-goodness Senior class, for them to follow.

Third. To the Sophomores we will the book "How to Drink Milk from a Half-Pint Bottle."

Fourth. To the Freshmen we will a formula guaranteed to remove all stains or bright colors (especially green.)

Fifth. Adrian Bartholomew leaves his garters to Rhoman Clem.

Sixth. Leslie Bitney wills his Glo-Co to the U. S. Mange Cure Society.

Seventh. Winston Brown wills his red tie to the rear of Stanley Walsh's Ford.

Eighth. Clarence Docka wills his bashfulness to Filmore Calhoun.

Ninth. Ann Donovan wills to Ruth Carlson her book "How to Eat Peanuts with a Fork."

Tenth. Elizabeth Gable leaves her slicker to Everett Fish Market.

Eleventh. Everett Gray wills his tin Derby to Durfee Day.

Twelfth. Viola Kjelstad leaves "them eyes" to the Sea Gull in the main hall.

Thirteenth. Thelma McNiven leaves her "Smiling Irish Eyes" as an inspiration for future poets and song writers.

Fourteenth. Oh, Moulner wills his new Everett Theatre Overcoat to Jimmy Linton for a lounging jacket.

Fifteenth. Casper Monson leaves his football plunger to David Ohlsen to use in demonstrating Pascal's Law.

Sixteenth. Peggy Rucker wills her last five lessons in aesthetic dancing to Marian Schoch.

Seventeenth. Wylie Smith wills his knack of capturing the "maiden" to Bernard Geary.

Eighteenth. Mary Torrey wills her job as water carrier on the Girls' swimming team to Ruth Walsh.

Nineteenth. Bryce Wood wills his hair to the Everett Mattress Factory.

Twenty-first. Helen Zehle leaves anything else that may be necessary to maintain the high standard of Everett High School.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hand and seal this twelfth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five.

Class Prophecy

"The night comes on—a blanket of darkness and enshrouding gloom. Silence reigns, deep, mysterious, awful. A mountain, waiting, watching, like a monster, looms in the distance.

At midnight fiery flames issue from the rumbling, belching throat of the mountain. Vapor, ashes, rushing streams of lava! Shrieks are heard from all sides, "Pilchuck has erupted! Pilchuck has erupted!" Cries of human agony, then desolation—death."

"Well, wouldn't that freeze ya? Imagine a man writing that and hot ashes coming on top of him! What's that name scribbled at the bottom of that paper? Brine, no, Bryce Wo-ah Wood. Why old Bryce Wood! I remember him, don't you, Herb?"

This was the conversation between two engineers, John Sievers and Herbert Mansfield, who in 1945 were sent into the wild regions of Everett and vicinity, that were devastated in 1942 by the eruption of Pilchuck, to find any information concerning the catastrophe, and to do some excavating.

"Do I remember him? I should say so. Look there; he wrote that on some kind of letterhead. It's pretty badly burned, but maybe we can make it out. Yes, look; 'Household Hints,' editor Bryce Wood; assistants, Mary Torrey, Marian Shaw, and Roy Schlegel; business manager, Leslie Bitney; assistants, Beryl Wilson, Maurice Thompson, and Albert Zimmerman. Say, Junior, file that away. That's valuable material. Let's look around for some more documents.

"Look here at this piece of tin, here on the other side, 'Saws Sharpened Shoppe,' proprietor Ray Van Patten, esquire. Ha! Ha! I never thought he'd get to that."

"What's that black square over there? By Jove! A purse! 'Sara Stapleton' it says! Look here on the inside. Must be an insurance card. Yes, it is. See! 'Suretogetcha Insurance Company' proprietor, Dr. Capsule Berge. Her occupation was that of an actress. That's right! She was in our Dramatic Club Play, wasn't she? Here are some cards in the back of the purse. John Tyler, attorney at law, and Helena Letme Zehle, director of the Physiology of the Worm. This is one I remember, too—Mademoiselle Nightengale Stiger, director and decorator of the Voice; assistants, Thelma Butler, and Myra Teets. Also, Mr. Washington Darling Brown, the director of a hospital for the insane Nesika staffs."

"Let's go farther in, Herb, and see what we can find. Why, here is a newspaper. How funny! It did not burn. It must be printed on that new kind of paper, guaranteed not to burn, rust, or bite, invented by Arthur Putnam. Let's look at it. Gee, what a name for a paper, 'Fulla Thinkd Thots.' Headlines, Van Winkle Wins! Good ol' Don; what's he done now? Let's read it and see. Ho, Ho, he won the talking marathon. Well, he always was pretty good at that. The judges were M. L. Thomas, Ellis Murphy, and Edward Crain. Say, this surely is a find; let's sit down and read it."

"All right. You read a page and then I will; get me?"

"Suits me fine. It says here that Henry Brown and Virginia Garrison are making quite a hit in gay Paris with their latest play entitled 'Leapin' Lizards.' Here's something interesting. Charles Shepard and his wife (formerly Lucile Hover) have just embarked on their yacht 'Navy Beau' for a long voyage to Tulalip. Members of the crew for the perilous voyage are Percy Gates, captain; Lester Hoisington, pilot; John Stephens and Bill Tierney, mates; Dorothy Wallmacher and Evelyn Tawiks, entertainers; Marvin Sholberg, cook; and Avery Pabst, chaplain. Oh boy! Isn't this rich! Raphael Snyder, Ray Montgomery, and Varnished Sievers are the main features of a traveling circus, which is owned and operated by Farrel, Philipoteaux and Peterslagen. The press agents are Ruth Pederson, Edna Noyes, and Homerun Requa. I always expected this one! Margaret Rucker Bartholomew, wife of the famous mountain climber, Jonathan Adriatic Bartholomew, has attracted world wide attention by her marvelous painting of the President of the United States, Aubrey Mounier. The great art critics, Grace Ackerman, Phyllis Esty, and Mary Walter, have praised it highly. Now it's time for you to read a while; don't you skip any."

"Don't worry, I won't. Here is an add for the Payzant theatre, And just look who's on the bill! Helen Baldwin, Elizabeth Donoho, Francella Jackson and Nancy Hansen, dancers and rivals of Pavlawa. Helen Organ travels with the company, and charms large audiences with the sleep-walking scene from 'Macbeth.' Here is an article entitled 'In Everett Literary Circles.' It mentions Mildred Bast, Marie Davies, and Marjorie Revell, short story writers; the novelists Elizabeth Camp, Leonis Enger, and Elizabeth Manger; and the popular poetesses, Edna Reef, Lola Meyer and Ruth Allen.

"Here is another: 'In Congress' is the title of this article. It speaks of the famous speeches delivered by Henry Leege, Russel Taylor and Grace Whitney, concerning the establishment of traffic laws for airplanes. Arlene Spencer, Marguerite Rodgers, and Gladys Sharp are secretaries to Senators Melby, Weiss, and Slusher, respectively.

"George Nelson is the city manager of Everett. I see that his wife is Viola Kjelstad Nelson. Agrill Holman and Victor Larson are commissioners. Arnell Johnson is chief of police, and James Kaiser is fire chief. Hugh McGuiness is dog catcher. Fred Doph and Robert Lewis are speed cops. I see, too, that Casper Munson and Lloyd Greger have established an electric pin cushion factory. The three Smiths—you remember them, don't you—Wylie, Margaret and Norman—have established a hospital with Edith Van Derwerker as head nurse, and Evadine Thompson as assistant. Up here in the corner it gives the personnel of the staff of this paper 'Fulla Thinked Thots': Thelma McNiven, editor; Elsie Rasmussen, Maxine Morrow, and Hazel Seaman, associate editors; Robert Mony, editor of Children's department; and Thora Newell, Annie Nelson and Ella Goff, reporters. The business staff is headed by Velma Kyes; assistants Lucille Johnson, Rosalie Hoeffler, and Verna Holmstrom. Everett Fells is the printer's devil. Here is something interesting, too; it gives the teaching staff of the Everett High School. The principal is Verner Soley; office boy, Howard Burch; Owen Hazelton, newswriting teacher; Claire Christenson and Elizabeth Davies are English teachers; Jim Rowe is a sociology teacher; Ellen Anderson and Stewart McIntire, science; May Klopfersten and Emma Kornitzer are commercial teachers; Everett Gray is head of the Sewing Department, and Clarence Docks is the coach. That's about all of the staff that we know."

"I see that the music loving public was to be entertained. The 'Old Maids' Orchestra' was to appear at the high school auditorium. The orchestra was composed of Elizabeth Gable, harpist; June Sievers, cellist; Bernice Boddy and May Sievers, violinists, and Mary Fogarty and Elizabeth Doph, pianists.

Everett had a Monument avenue, too, I see. Helen Carlson presents the first monument, which was erected at the corner of Hewitt and Colby, in memory of her canary bird, Josephine, which expired last spring. George Francois delivered a touching address at the unveiling. A quartet, composed of Charlotte Bergstrom, Esther Anderson, Helen Aubert and Ethel Burk, sang the sweet song 'All Alone.'

"It seems that Alice Berg, Ethel Dingman, Florence Buck and Hannah Chadwick married English lords. Myrtle Halvorsen, Ben Franklin and Dulcie Jefferson are missionaries to Sedro-Woolley where they are endeavoring to civilize and Americanize the natives.

"Now, Junior, sit up and take notice; we are getting into society. June Carboneau's marriage to the Prince of Wales was solemnized at Canterbury Cathedral. The bridesmaids were Lady Ellen Carlson, Lady Ethel Dykeman, Lady Maxine Ebert, and Lady Lillian Eldridge. Lady Doris Fickel and Lady Ruby Getchel were the maids of honor. Sir John Klapp was best man. Little Arthur Knapp was ring bearer. Bea Walsh and Aurelia Sossaman were the sweet little flower girls. For the first time in history girls were ushers at a wedding in this cathedral. They were Erma Jenks, Ilene Larson, Clara Lee, Carrie Lilja, Mary McCormick, Concordia Lubach, Mildred McChesney and Dorothy McNeil. Donald McNeil and Victor Larson, noted detectives, guarded the presents."

"But here is the sensation of them all: Mable Sanders, Anne Sorenson, Helen Stubbs, Florence Thorne, and Elsie Wick, while traveling in France, broke the bank of Monte Carlo."

"Well, we have found out everything of interest, and we must be off."

History of the Class of 24½

The class of '24½! There is a world of significance in these few words, for they refer to a live class, a class that has made the name of Everett High School famous.

As Freshmen, we were the brightest of green. This, however, soon wore off, and we began to take a vital part in the activities of the school.

As Sophomores, we were live wires. We were sophisticated as all Sophomores are, and prominent in school affairs.

Our Junior year was the greatest experienced thus far in our high school life. In scholarship we stood high on the list. We boasted, too, of having one of our members on the state debate team.

Our Senior year was our triumph. In dramatics we excelled, and we are proud to announce that our honor roll was one of the largest in the history of the school. In all activities pertaining to high school, we were represented. At our graduation, the school lost a great class, but it gained a greater alumni.

Class Prophecy

PLACE—Heaven.

TIME—Eternity.

CHARACTERS: St. Peter and his assistant, Dick Stone,

SCENE I.

A knock is heard at the door.

Assistant: Quick, some one wants in!

St. Peter: Where's the questionnaire? Since Bill Compau has become our office boy, I can't find a thing. Who's there?

Voice: Your humble servant from the earth—Joe Leonard, the sport writer.

Assistant: Ah! That name sounds familiar.

St. Peter: Qualifications, please?

Joe: A graduate from the Everett High, '24½.

St. Peter: Done anything bad?

Joe: N-o-o!

St. Peter: Nuff sed—come on. Get your crown as you enter the door. That is about fifteen of that class that we have had this week. Whom did you let in while I was out dining with Abraham?

Assistant: Well let's see. Larry Kilbourn, that Notre Dame coach, you know was here. I let him in, because we haven't many illustrious men here. Gordon McNeil, the famous dancer, too. I sorta felt sorry for him, so I let him in.

St. Peter: I thought we let him in last week!

Assistant: No that was his wife, Margaret Graham McNeil; she came in at the same time those famous authors, D. Washburn Hall, and Harold Guttermen did.

St. Peter: What did they ever write, that we should let them in here?

Assistant: Don't show your ignorance like that. Harold wrote that great book "Hot Stuff," and Washburn, "The Migration of the Oysters."

St. Peter: That oil king, Arthur Plaxton is here too, isn't he? I just met him as I was coming back.

Assistant: Yes, and his wife, Marie Peck. We have two well known lecturers, too, Vivian Powell, and Neva Ruppel.

St. Peter: My wife hired two new maids this morning, Mildred Sessions and Gwendolyn Shakespeare. They were running a cross-word puzzle factory and their strenuous work killed them.

(A very timid knock was heard at the door.)

NESIKA

Assistant: Who's there?

Voice: Viola Sovde, if you please.

Assistant: What's your business?

Viola: Zeigfeld's Follies Girl.

St. Peter: Let'er in; beauties are a minus quantity up here.

Assistant: All right, come in. Here is your harp; take the stairs to the left.

St. Peter: I hope this place livens up a bit; I'm bored to tears.

In breezes a young (?) lady, without knocking, singing, "Oh, Peter, you're so nice. Say, is this Paradise?"

Assistant: Say! Who do you think you are?

Young Lady: Don't talk to me that way, brother. But since you ask me, I am Maida McLeod.

Assistant: What's your business?

Maida: Of all the insults! Never heard of me? Why, I am the great actress. The rest of my troupe are coming up later. Our ship was sunk, as we were going to Mukilteo to put on our act.

St. Peter: Who are in the crowd?

Maida: In my company there were—let's see—Ernest Johnson, my leading man, Bertha Jackson, the vamp, and Chester Swanson, the villain. Catherine McDonald is our press agent, and Claribel Keezer, the designer of our costumes. Alton Svensson is the manager of the troupe.

St. Peter: Oh, I guess we'll let them pass; we need some new stars up here, anyhow. Give her a Uke and let her go before she talks me to death.

Assistant: Those inventors we were watching, came up while you were at lunch.

St. Peter: Which ones?

Assistant: Harold Isakson and Kenneth Junge; they were working on that wireless fly-swatter.

St. Peter: Oh yes. Say, who are these old maids here, that are making such a fuss over suffrage? I don't remember of letting them in here.

Assistant: Just a second, till I look them up in my books. Here they are: Marie Leavers, Dorothy Grindly and Beulah Laughton. They came in at the same time those three Senators from Arkansas, Alvin Sholberg, Bernard Webber and Harold Olson came in.

St. Peter: Oh, that is the crowd of old girls that hit me with the umbrella and I didn't have sense enough left to send them below.

Assistant: Yes, that's the ones.

NESIKA

(A few little pecks are heard at the door.)

St. Peter: Who's there?

Voice: Walter Chitty.

St. Peter: Qualifications?

Walt: Married Dickie Shaw.

St. Peter: Wise man, step in; give him his crown.

Walt: Can my friends come in too? They are out here.

St. Peter: Who are they?

Walt: Ella Husted's husband, Dave Brenner, Alfred Beilfus, and John Holberg, the explorers who started to Mars.

St. Peter: Oh, I guess so—always room for a few more.

Assistant: These movie stars you let in last week are making quite a rumpus.

St. Peter: How come?

Assistant: Oh, Sue Lyke and Norval Binnal tried to film a picture over in Moses' lot and they had such a mob around that they couldn't do a thing.

St. Peter: Where were the cops?

Assistant: We have three; those oil kings, Theodore Renkert, Willard Davis and Harold Lenahan, and they were busy chasing Will Neff and Herb Smith who were digging up the gold on Main Street.

St. Peter: Get that governor of Washington that's up here busy, straightening out things.

Assistant: Oh, Morris Dale?

St. Peter: Yes. Men are so scarce, we will have to use some of our husky ladies.

Assistant: Well, Mildred Clay, Ruth Egbert and May Beagle, who made a name for themselves as athletes, would be good for that job, and May Ohlhoff would make a fine chief of police.

St. Peter: Suits me. I'm tired, so I am going to sleep for a while; tend to things till I get back.

Assistant: All right.

(Assistant goes to the door and calls the office boy, Bill Compan.)

Assistant: Where did we leave off the other day when we were talking about the graduates of '24½? I remember, with Adelaide Dale, Agnes Ager and Anna Burkland, who are all school teachers in E. H. S. And what ever became of Howard Faller?

Bill: Oh, he married Mildred Reid, of course. Iva Stonehouse and Ethel Oas are maintaining a home for aged alligators.

Assistant: I heard that Florence Ronken and Anna Petersen are running a matrimonial bureau.

Bill: Yes, but the worst of all was Roy Erickson; he married Nellie Fortson, the society queen, and he has taken her to live on his berry farm in Iceland.

Assistant: Lydia Solie, Amy Paul and Esther Hegberg; are they still doing interior decorating for that asylum for the blind, run by Elsie Norred and Agnes Noyes?

Bill: Yes, the latest I heard they were. Gladys Svensson is running for president and Irene Tichaceh, for vice-president on the "Women First" ticket.

Assistant: Flossie Whitney and Doris Weinstein came up about a year ago, before you came. They were designing hose for Margaret Crook, the proprietor of the "Crooked Hardware Shoppe."

Bill: Martha Kristwick became the typing artist of the world making  $5\frac{3}{4}$  words a minute. Vivienne Keenan is editor of the "Twinkling Star."

Assistant: Our class boasts of three toe-dancers of fame, too, Helen Perin, Hilda Storno, and Christine Sutherland.

(A knock is heard at the door.)

Assistant: Go and wake St. Peter; some one wants in.

St. Peter: No rest with this job. Who's there?

Voice: Ray Oczkewicz, Charles Twelves and Ray Bolton.

St. Peter: Holy Smoke! Have they the nerve to show up here?

(They string in looking sheepish.)

St. Peter: (addressing the elevator boy, Robert McChesney.) Show the gentlemen out please.

(They all get into the elevator.)

Robert: Going down.

St. Peter: Have the stars hung out and blow out the sun; I am going to stop for the day.

History of the Class of 25½

When you think of the peppiest, cleverest, and most loyal class in the E. H. S., think of the class of '25½, for we are what is known as "live wires."

As Freshmen we displayed keen interest in all school activities, and none ever dared to tease us, because of our dignity, superior intellect and self-control.

When we were Sophomores, we knew even more than most Sophomores do, and the owl-like look of thoughtfulness and meditation which adorned our studious visages was at once our teachers' "Pride and Joy."

In our Junior year, we basked in the light of our popularity, and lived in all the faculties of the soul.

Now as Seniors, we are trying to live up to our established reputation, and have thus far succeeded.

In short, we are satisfied with our record, and are convinced that our future achievements will be as great as those of the past and present.

History of the Class of 26

Three short, glorious, successful years ago, as Freshmen, we began our ascent of the steep mountain of learning, called Everett High. In our headlong rush up the grade, we made for ourselves a name of which any beginning class could be justly proud.

Pausing midway on our climb, we looked back over our Sophomore year and found that we had overcome such obstacles as Basketball, Football, Baseball, Debate, and Books.

Now as Juniors we again glance back, before making the final dash for the summit. We are very elated with our success in the All-School Program, in sports, and in scholarship. In fact in every branch of school activity we have been represented.

We believe we have made a record in attaining the three-mile mark on this mountain of learning. We have blazed the trail in our ascent, so that other classes in the future may see the steps taken by the successful class of '26.

History of the Class of '27

As we, the class of '27, review our Sophomore year, we are justly elated by our accomplishments. We have exceeded the good reputation earned while in that stage of rapid development called the "Frosh Era."

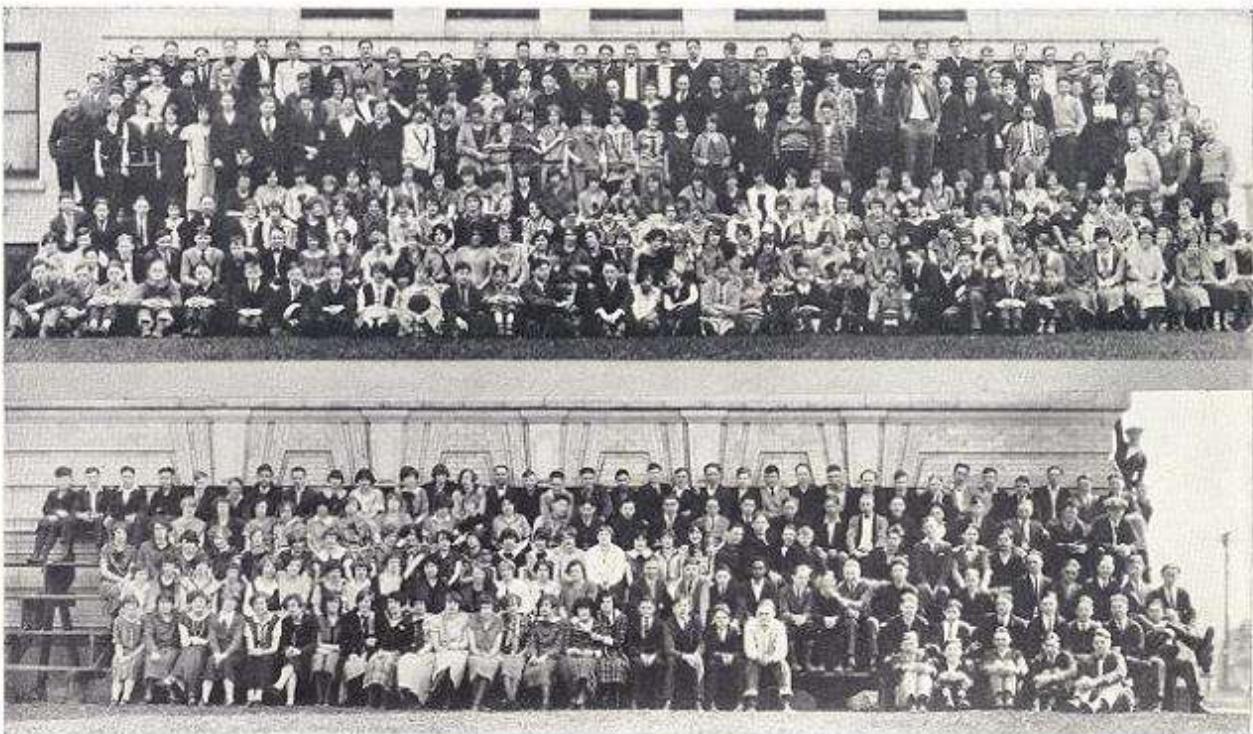

In athletics, our girls won the interclass championship in basketball and hockey. Several of our girls were Big E. winners, and one of us led the Girls' Athletic Club through a successful year. Two of our boys were football letter men; also more than a few from our ranks were claimed by basketball and baseball.

We have not centered our talents in athletics alone. One of our members was a winner in the Gold Medal Declamation Contest, and one of the features of the All-School Midyear program was the Sophomore "Jazz Quartet." In scholarship, too, we have ranked high. Many of our names are to be found on the Honor Roll.

Our class this year has been under the competent guidance of Mr. McGinnis and Mrs. Mudgett.

However successful our past, we are looking to the future, and are sincere in our desire to serve our school.

History of the Class of '28

Get set! We, the exceptionally bright class of '28, have been the liveliest contestants in the race for school honors.

One! Our first enterprise was a farce, entitled "The Alphabet Tragedy," which won high approval from everyone, especially the upperclassmen who saw the Blue and Gold All-School Program.

Two! Our exceedingly great talents in debating made a good showing in the interclass contests. Honor Roll students proved to be our specialty.

Three! Our girls showed their interest in athletics when over seventy-five turned out for interclass basketball and hockey.

Go! Allison Lloyd, president; Laurence Walton, vice-president, and Fletcher Lake, secretary-treasurer, showed their loyalty as officers by taking part in the Freshman play, supervised by Miss Pheney, Miss Darrough and Miss Scroggs.

We're off! We are steadily progressing and are bound to break the tape, and win the day with flying colors.

KODAK

This year a marked stride has been made toward the goal, "A bigger and better Kodak."

The Kodak for '24 1/2-'25 has had a most profitable year, due to the editorial and business staffs, and to Miss Catherine Clayton and Mr. Roscoe Jenkins, the faculty advisers. The editorial staff of the first semester's Kodak consisted of Ann Donovan, editor-in-chief; Kathryn Ragsdale, assistant, and John Ramstad, sport editor. Winston Brown resumed his position as business manager and Leslie Bitney and Durfee Day were assistants. Toward the last of the semester, Durfee Day went East. He was succeeded by Bryce Wood.

The fall circulation was launched at an assembly. Immediately following short talks by the editor and business manager, and the presentation of both staffs, a telegram was sent to the pilot of the aeroplane, Kodak, who was to make the cross-country flight from New York to Seattle; the destination was set at one thousand subscriptions. At the end of the campaign, there were about one thousand and fifty.

For the second semester Thelma McNiven took over the editorship and her assistants were Margaret Rucker and Cornelia Thayer. Leslie Bitney, former assistant, was made business manager, and Beryl Wilson and Fritz Knaak were his assistants.

The campaign of the second semester also was launched at an assembly. It ended with an exceedingly large number of subscriptions.

With this, another successful year added to its history, the Kodak bids fair to be the best publication of its kind in the state.

Football Review

No football team in the history of the Everett High School deserves more credit and applause than the one of 1924.

Although we have heard much of the famous football men of former years, who brought glory and fame to the old E.H.S., we think that they deserve no more praise than our own splendid players this year.

For the team of 1924 had everything to lose, and no exalted past reputation to rest upon. It was a new team, with a new coach, from which every High School in the United States wanted to wrest the championship.

When Coach Kempes called the first turnout in September, about sixty-five candidates answered his call, and only three letter men were among them. Although there were many promising fellows among those turning out, they were all green in the art of football.

However, Kempes soon had them divided into squads in an effort to build a championship team.

The wonderful success he made, despite the handicap of the first game, is revealed in the following account of the season's victories:

EVERETT 12—ARLINGTON 15

Before a crowd of 4000, Everett lost a tough battle to the heavy and experienced Arlington aggregation by a drop kick in the last minute of play. But despite this defeat Everett showed that it had the makings of a wonderful football team. It was this costly error and a number of penalties that lost the game for Everett. The Arlington team represented a squad that has played together for three years, while Everett was a team learning the art of football.

WENATCHEE VS. EVERETT

EVERETT 27—SEDRO-WOOLLEY 0

Everett, after the Arlington game, spent a week in resting and acquiring more knowledge of the fundamentals of football. October 18 the team met and gained a decisive victory over the Sedro-Woolley squad. It was in this game that Everett began to show the marks of a first class football team. Although the score was large Sedro-Woolley fought hard and gave the fans an interesting game.

EVERETT 7—PUYALLUP 0

Following the victory over the Sedro-Woolley squad, Everett journeyed to Puyallup to meet the strong Puyallup aggregation. To Everett's surprise the Berry-Pickers held the Seagulls to a lone touchdown. Captain Mounger's and Berge's work on the defense was the feature of the game. Owing to the fact that the field was very slippery, very few forward passes were attempted.

EVERETT 20—WHATCOM (Bellingham) 7

The best football displayed by the Everett High School eleven was displayed November 7, when the Blue and Gold squad beat their greatest rival. It was in this game that the fans saw the real brand of football, the kind that brought the national championship to Everett in 1920. Bellingham's only touchdown came in the last quarter of the game when they fell on a blocked punt behind the goal line.

EVERETT 12—ABERDEEN 6

Showing great power in both offensive and defensive the Seagulls defeated Aberdeen High at Aberdeen. Despite the fact that the field had a covering of about four or five inches of mud few tumbles occurred. Berge playing his first game in the back-field was a thorn in the side of Aberdeen. The game was hard played throughout.

EVERETT 31—WENATCHEE 0

On Saturday, November 22, the Blue and Gold defeated Wenatchee to the tune of 31-0. The Apple-Knocks were outplayed in every part of the game. In this game Everett showed more art in passing, and in the use of trick plays excelled. Wenatchee was unable to solve the Everett attack, and only once threatened Everett's goal.

EVERETT 12—LEWIS AND CLARK (Spokane) 6

On a field covered with a coating of mud, Everett High eleven triumphed over the Lewis and Clark High School of Spokane by a score of 12-6 in its Thanksgiving classic. The large crowd that witnessed the spectacle pronounced it a great game. Despite the condition of the field Everett made her first touchdown on a long forward pass. Nothing can be said of individual stars as every man played his part and every play showed teamwork of a well coached team.

Football Summary

Everett spirit can't be beaten! The football teams have proven this true in every year of their history.

This year, although the Seagull did not inspire our boys to bring home the state championship, they did not sink into abject despair, but even now are looking forward toward next year's season with high hopes, and a resolve to "bring home the bacon."

In every hard-fought game they displayed the fine sportsmanship, indomitable courage, and skillful playing that did credit to Coach Kempkes' training, and made their fellow-schoolmates proud.

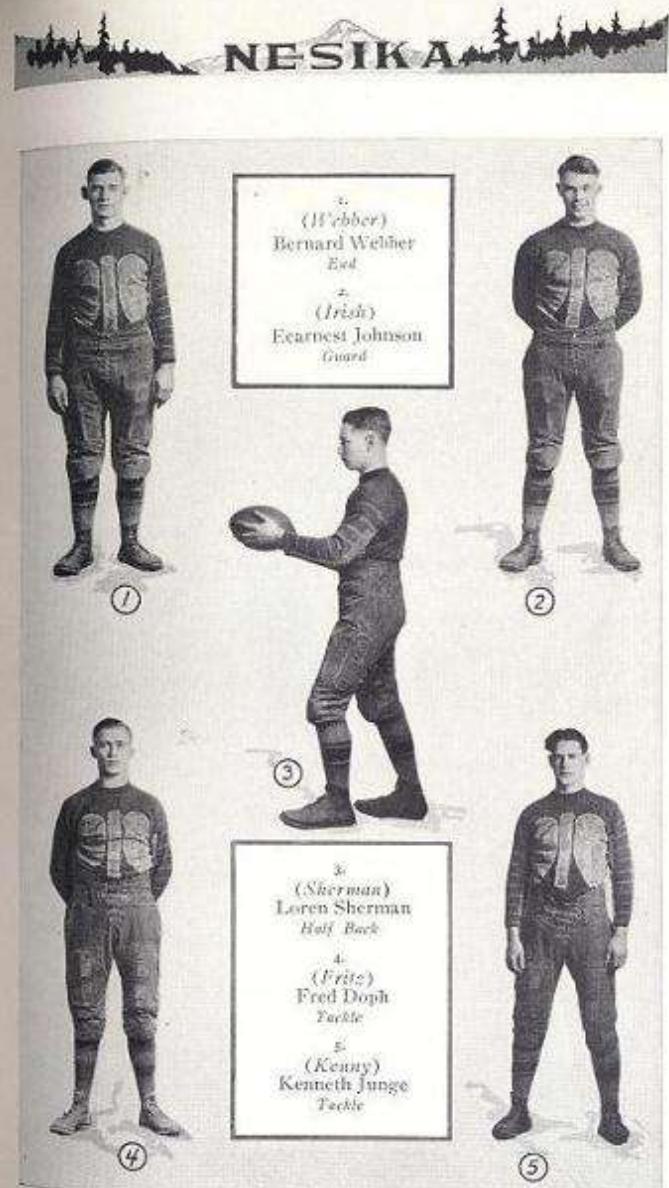

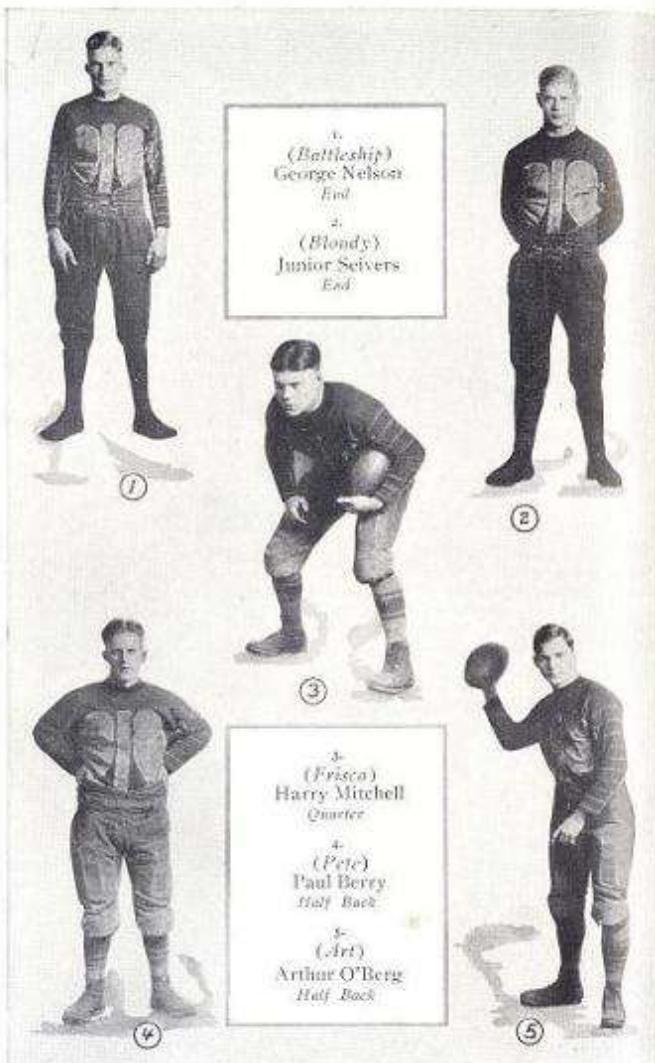

Captain Aubrey Mounger has been an endless source of inspiration and encouragement to the team, and to him a great deal of credit is due for the spirit and fight of his fellow-players.

Many of Everett's football stars have played their last game for their school, and we are mourning the loss of Captain Aubrey Mounger, Ernest Johnson, John Sievers, Clarence Docka, Kenneth Junge, Casper Munson, Harold Gutterson, George Nelson, Fred Doph, Ray Montgomery, and Bernard Webber. But there are other fighting men on the team who will be here next year to win laurels for the E. H. S.—and to them we give our best wishes and loyal support.

Basket Ball Review

Everett's basketball troops were quick to answer the call to arms.

Coach Kempkes opened the season with a group of veteran players that quickly rounded into form under his careful training.

Ted Westrom, star forward of the squad, led the team with a score of 174 points total for the season. Rude, center, was second with 107 points, and Herb Mansfield, guard, came third with 78 points.

Sherman, Johnson, Vanderbrug, Phillips, Graverock, Jaderholm and Mitchell, proved a sensation in every game they played. Manager George Nelson made an excellent schedule, in addition to the county league games.

Everett won the Snohomish County Championship by piling up 534 points against their opponents' 315; took third place in the district tournament at Sedro-Woolley, and placed in the state tournament at Seattle.

A great deal of credit goes to Harry Brooks, Donald Stykes, and Harold Berry, who turned out faithfully all season, but did not get a letter because they did not participate in enough games.

We are sorry to lose Captain Wahl, Herb Mansfield, Ed Johnson and Boyd Phillips, all of whom are graduating; but with Ted Westrom as the captain of next year's squad, we anticipate great things.

A survey of the season shows the team to have won all the county games, three out of four games played at the Sedro-Woolley tournament, and two of its four state tourney contests.

Baseball

With the coming of the balmy spring days, Coach Frank Overfield issued orders for baseball turnout.

There was a question at the first of the season as to whether Everett had enough money to purchase supplies. This obstacle was soon downed by that "old Everett Spirit," and season tickets were sold to cover the expense of the necessary equipment.

With Art Schroeder as captain, the team settled down to earnest work at the first of the season, which accounts much for the success of the team.

With such lettermen as Art Schroeder, Lowry Mounger, Aubrey Mounger, Harry White, Dick Vanderbrug and Eddie Novak, we were able to spell defeat in capital letters to our opponents.

Lowry Mounger was chosen manager of the team. He arranged a very good schedule.

The members of the team who received their letters are: Schroeder, L. Mounger, A. Mounger, Mitchell, White, Taylor, Solie, Farrell, Montgomery, Sherman, Novak, Vanderbrug and Krapp.

The scores of the season are as follows:

Everett	9	Monroe	0
Everett	19	Snohomish	3

1925 TRACK TEAM

Track

The 1925 track season was indeed successful. When the call was sent out for men, about twenty young aspirants issued forth in search of honors. With Coach Kempkes at the helm, the Seagulls turned out early in the spring for practice. The hard and earnest endeavor and the early practice accounts for much of the success this year.

Their first chance to display their skill was on May 2, at the Annual Snohomish County-Kiwanis Track and Field meet. Everett won the meet, as well as breaking a few records.

Otto Rude broke the county record for the shot put, by tossing the iron ball 42 feet 9 $\frac{1}{4}$  inches.

One of the most spectacular races of the meet was the half-mile by Albert Zimmerman, who came from behind and won in a thrilling finish.

To the Everett relay team composed of Law, Scheidt, Farrell and Stevers, goes a great deal of credit for winning the meet. This was one of the most thrilling and close races of the day.

To Everett came three silver loving cups,—one to the school for winning the meet; one to the school for winning the relay; and one to Law for high point man. These cups are permanent property and were presented by the Kiwanis Club of Everett.

After resting and doing light practice for a week, Vern Law, Otto Rude, Albert Zimmerman and the relay team journeyed to Bellingham to represent Everett in the district meet between Snohomish, Whatcom, and Skagit Counties.

Everett took fourth place with only three men and a relay team entered. Vern Law captured the first in the 50-yard dash; second, in the 100-yard dash, and third in the relay. Albert Zimmerman, by setting a new record, ran off with the half-mile honors. Otto Rude, the strong man of the campus, took second in the shot put and thirtieth in the discus. Our relay team came in second.

A great deal of credit is due also to Coach Kempkes who has brought to Everett for the first time a championship track team.

Girls' Athletic Association

The good ship Girls' Athletic Association had a smooth and profitable voyage this last trip. With the able seamen Skalley and Pelz as Chief Advisers, and with Captain Doherty as next in command, she rode calm waters and came to port ahead of most vessels on the sea.

She was so successful that other crafts have sent for her regulations and method of awarding letters to the most skillful sailors.

On all excursions there was a full crew. At the roller-skating party there were many passengers as well as the crew themselves. Also, the circus, which was given in the saloon, was well attended. On that occasion, many sedate seamen became monkeys, clowns, and even French dolls.

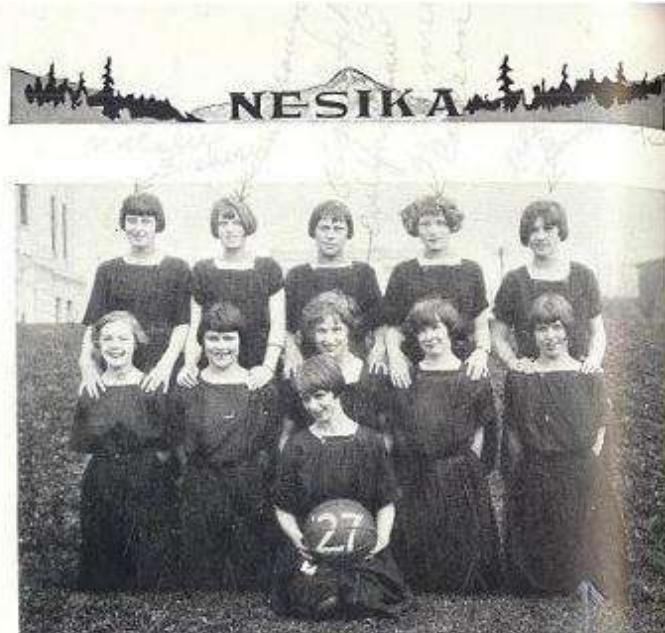

All hands were out for the party given for Commodore Skalley, and danced together the jolly horn-pipe. The crew felt sad at losing such a capable, friendly officer, but glad for her that she had the chance to man a larger ship.

For the excursion "Basketball Banquet," given in honor of the seamen who had turned out for basketball. Ex-Commodore Skalley was a guest and glad the sailors were to see her.

These were the outstanding features of the cruise of this famous ship.

Now a hearty cheer for Commodore Pelz, and wishes for even greater success on the next trip!

ORGANIZATIONS

Clubs

The clubs of the high school are very interesting and instructive. They represent almost every department of education, and therefore furnish a wide range of choice.

Many new clubs have been organized during the last two years, which have greatly increased club membership. There is no club, however, which gives membership to the Freshmen.

This semester an old plan is being again tried out; the clubs are meeting in the evening, once a month. This, when in usage before, was very greatly mistreated, and for that reason was discontinued. Mr. Baisden, however, wishes to give it another trial.

For the most part, club programs consist of features pertaining to the nature of the various clubs. Sometimes talks are given by local business men. An adviser is appointed from the department of which the club is a part. Officers are elected twice a year.

With capable students and advisers, clubs bid fair to be very popular and worth while.

Service League

Our only honorary club, the Service League, is founded on the motto, "Service, Leadership, and Scholarship." This year it has had about thirty-four active members, who, along with taking care of the lost and found articles, and the Girls' Reg Room, have given service to the school by doing individual assignments given to them by Mr. Baisden.

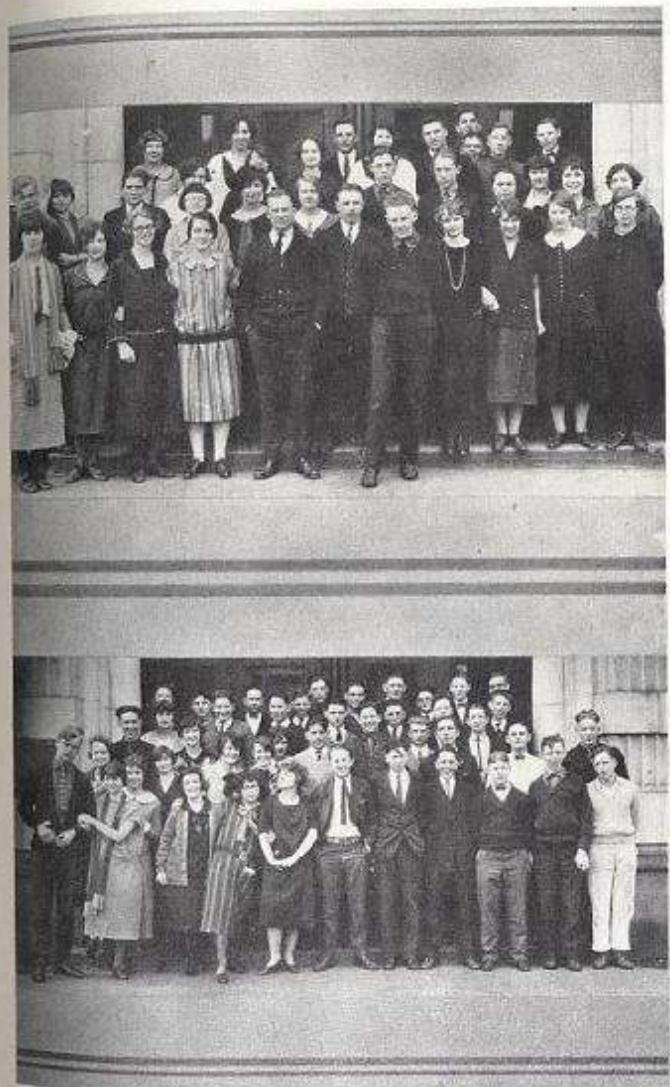

To gain membership in the Service League, a student must have won one hundred points in Service, Leadership and Scholarship. Miss Platt and Mr. Robb are the advisers for this year. The officers are Don Van Winkle, president; Edith Van Derwerker, secretary-treasurer; Beryl Wilson, sergeant-at-arms, and Bryce Wood, historian.

Olympic Club

The Ace of Clubs started on a new career this semester, having a new adviser, Mr. Morgan, and many new and prominent members.

The Olympic Club aims to give its members practice and development in the art of public speaking, and parliamentary instruction.

The officers for the year were: Herbert Mansfield and Alice Johnson, presidents; Myron Sjostrom and James Rowe, vice-presidents; Alice Johnson and Emma Kornitzer, secretary-treasurers; Verne Sievers and Miriam Fischer, sergeants-at-arms; and Verner Solie and Clarence Docka, parliamentarians.

Music Club

The Music Club has advanced this year. It has had many enjoyable musical numbers at its meetings, and has studied the lives and compositions of some of the great musicians. Wilma Black was president; Ella Goff, secretary, and Ruth Anderson, treasurer. Miss Esther Sather, the adviser, helped in its success and rapid growth.

Thrift Club

The Thrift Club has been organized this year to encourage thrift in the school. One representative was elected from each room as a member of the club. These pupils met once a month on Monday morning at eight o'clock. The officers for the year were: President, Avery Pabst; vice-president, Clarence Dailey; secretary-treasurer, May Klopfenstein. The various rooms were divided into groups with their respective captains. The object was to see which side could get the highest percentage in thrift. Mrs. Payzant was the adviser.

Spatterine Club

The Spatterine Club, as the name suggests, is the literary club, of which Miss Everton is the adviser. Ruth Egbert, president; Flora Hamilton, vice-president, and Harriette Shelton, secretary-treasurer, were the officers for the second semester. This year instead of only one prize each semester for the best and most original story, two prizes were given; one for the best short story, and one for the best of any other kind of literary contribution, such as a poem, or an essay. Officers for last semester were Zenonia Smith, president; Ellen Wardell, vice-president; Harriette Shelton, secretary-treasurer.

NESIKA

Spanish Club

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to enable the members to use their Spanish a little more informally than in class, and to study about Spanish speaking countries. Club members made and worked out some very clever Spanish cross-word puzzles at their meetings.

The officers for the first semester were Frank Rowe, president; Anna Noble, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Ellis, vice-president. For the second semester they were Frank Rowe, president; Hannah Alseth, vice-president, and Anna Noble, secretary-treasurer.

Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club, with Mr. Countryman as adviser, has worked up some very interesting short plays.

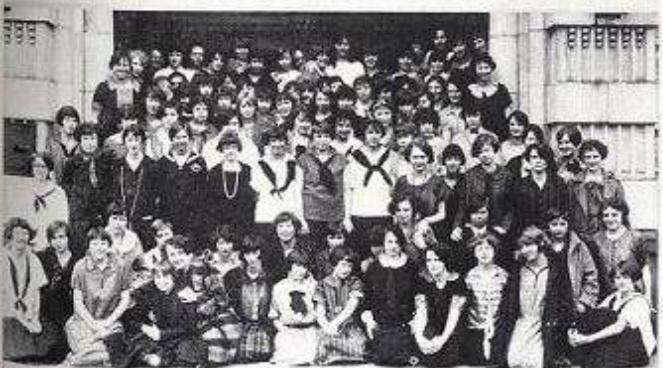

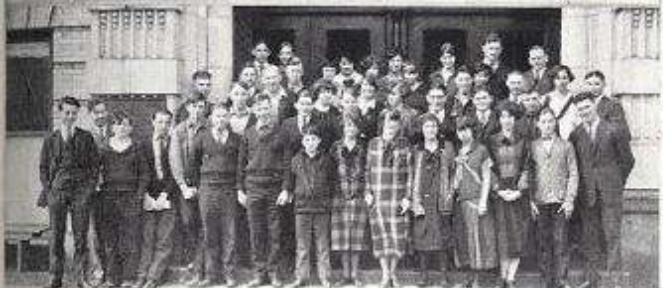

The officers of the first semester were Donald Van Winkle, president; Margaret Rucker, vice-president, and Vivian Powell, secretary-treasurer. For the second semester they were Griffith Brick, president; Barbara Allen, vice-president, and Helen Baldwin, secretary-treasurer.

Girl Reserves

The High School Girl Reserves have accomplished much this last year. They have given parties for poor children, and big sister parties for entering Freshmen, besides donating Thanksgiving baskets.

The officers for this semester are Nina Bachelder, president; Sue Lyke, vice-president; Dorothy Waldmacher, secretary, and Elsie Rasmussen, treasurer.

Travel Club

One of the most interesting clubs of the high school is the Travel Club, which is under the supervision of Miss McCowan. Its members travel around the world to learn about important things and places in different countries.

Verne Law is president; Beatrice Tallman is vice-president; Amorette O'Brien is secretary.

Sphinx Club

The Sphinx Club has proved to be one of the most popular and instructive clubs in the school. The club was established in order to increase interest in historical subjects and knowledge in historical facts. Mrs. Newton, the adviser, has been a source of inspiration to the members. Officers for the first semester were as follows: president, Marian Payzant, and secretary-treasurer, Beulah Laughton. During the second semester Margaret Gunter was president and Clifford Wold, secretary-treasurer.

Masqueraders

The Masqueraders Club, formerly the Dramatic Club B, has made a name for itself in the first year of existence. With Miss Hutchinson to help them, the members have endeavored to improve along the line of dramatics.

The officers for the year were Helen Durand, president; Charles Shepard, vice-president; Hugh McGuinness, secretary-treasurer; and Ralph Johnson, sergeant-at-arms.

French Club

The French Club has had a very successful year. It has had twenty-five members, and the following officers: Helen Hunt, president; Alida Knudsen, vice-president, and Alli Lou Jamison, secretary-treasurer. Their meetings consisted of a "Mardi Gras Carnaval," a Christmas program, and talks on the people and customs of France. Miss Chappelle was the adviser.

Radio Club

The Radio Club has been working out individual problems in radio, bettering the radio reception and studying it in general. The members have enjoyed many programs over the radio this year.

The officers for the first semester were Edward Ringman, president; Russell Taylor, vice-president, and Fern Forbes, secretary-treasurer. The second semester officers were president, Marvin Wilson; Edward Ringman, vice-president; Fern Forbes, secretary-treasurer; Russell Taylor, sergeant-at-arms.

Campfire

There are five Everett Campfire groups which have high school girls in them.

These are Owaissa, guardian, Miss E. Pelz; Dushobahbb, guardian, Mrs. J. A. Varley; Memook, Mrs. W. Gaston; Lohache, Miss Mary Byers; and Beeigi, Mrs. T. Reid of Beverly Park.

This year the girls have given two inter-camp banquets, both of which were very well attended, that enabled them to meet and become acquainted with their many campfire sisters. February 28, an all-camp party was given in honor of Mrs. Varley, who organized campfire in Everett.

Commercial Club

In creating greater interest in commercial and business lines, the Commercial Club has made much progress this year. They have had many talks on these subjects, including some from business men of Everett. The officers for the year were Maurice Thompson and Evelyn Carboneau, presidents; Evelyn Carboneau and Bertha Burkland, vice-presidents; and Bertha Jackson and Phyllis Esty, secretary-treasurers. Mrs. Payzant is the club adviser.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club is our largest boys' club in the school. It has been under the able supervision of Mr. Stenshoel, high school adviser, and Mr. Bigelow, Y. M. C. A. adviser.

The officers for the first semester were Donald Van Winkle, president; Frances Burch, vice-president, and Sidney Wahl, secretary-treasurer. For the second semester, Kenneth Kingsley was president; Clarence Docka, vice-president; Beryl Wilson, secretary, and Edwin Chase, treasurer.

The motto of the club is "We shall try to create and maintain throughout our school and community, high standards of Christian character."

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club has had some interesting cake and candy contests. They have also worked up some home economics plays. The officers are Thora Newell, president; Mary Putman, vice-president, and Gertrude Jensen, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Kautner is the adviser of the club.

NESIKA

Science Club

The followers of Science, with the aid of Miss Jane Taylor, have taken up some interesting points in the subject. They have emphasized inventory and their inventions. The officers for the year were Willard Melby and Eilef Anderson, president; Roy Harriman and Ansge Berge, vice-presidents; and Francis Busch and June Sievers, secretary-treasurers.

Latin Club

The Latin Club, with Miss Shave as adviser, has had some very interesting programs, pertaining to Rome and the old Romans.

The officers were first consul (president), Margaret Robinson; second consul (vice-president), Charlotte Bergstrom; quasitor (secretary), Mary Hartley; aedile (treasurer), Helen Giersch; and the senate (program committee), Jean Cough, Lawrence O'well, and Faith Gaston.

Art Club

This year the Art Club has specialized in a study of art appreciation of old masters and their pictures. The officers were Bertha Rasmussen, president; Lola Meyer, vice-president, and Gladys Philipotterax, secretary treasurer. Esther Anderson was secretary for the last semester. Miss Jones is the faculty adviser of this club.

Senior Play

The Senior Class chose for their annual play, "Nothing But the Truth," by James Montgomery. It is one of the most noted, popular, and amusing comedies of the American stage.

Is it possible to tell the absolute truth even for twenty-four hours? It is—at least Bob Bennett, the hero of this sprightly comedy, accomplished the feat. The bet he made with his business partners, and the trouble with his partners, his friends and his fiancee are only a part of the many interesting situations in the play.

The part of Bob Bennett was taken by Gordon McNeil. Although without previous stage experience, he showed marked strength in interpreting the role of the unfortunate hero.

The part of Bob Bennett's fiancee, Gwen Ralston, was charmingly interpreted by Virginia Garrison.

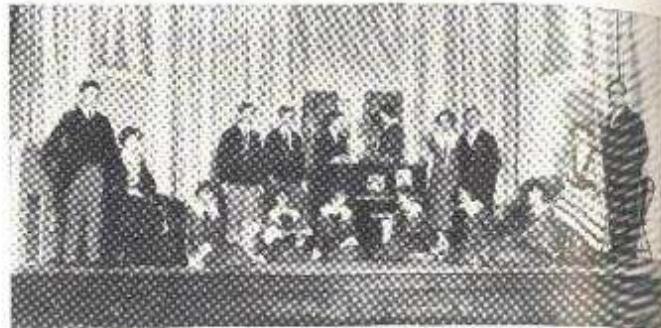

The other parts in the play were also exceptionally well taken by the other members of the cast.

A great deal of credit is due to G. C. Countryman and Miss Scroggs who directed the young actors in this interesting play; and to Charles Twelves, business manager; Adrian Bartholomew, stage manager, and Le Roy Slingerland, electrician.

Dramatic Club Play

"The Charm School," a three-act comedy by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton, was presented by the Dramatic Club and the Masqueraders on April Third and Fourth.

Austin Bevans, a young automobile salesman, inherits a girls' boarding school from his aunt. He turns the institution into a school for teaching charm. As the lessons in charm progress, Mr. Bevans falls in love with Elise Benedetti, the president of Senior class. Complications arise which make the play unusual and interesting.

Debate

Success was the motto of the 1925 debating team and success became a realization. This goal was attained only through the hard work and diligent study on the part of the members of the team, and the untiring and efficient help of the Coach, Mr. Thompson. Our team this year won all four debates, an honor that has been accomplished only once before, in the early history of our high school.

The tryout for the team was held early in the fall and the following were chosen to represent Everett High School: Affirmative—Griffith Brick, Carl Swanson and Don Van Winsle; negative team—Edwin Chase, Helen Durand, and Morris Dale.

Our first debate of this season on the question, "Resolved that the Philippines Should be Granted Their Immediate Independence," was held at Lake Stevens. The Lake Stevens team supported the affirmative and the Everett debaters the negative, but the Everett team was too strong for the Lake Stevens group and we received the decision.

Our next debate was held at home with Burlington as our opponent. Burlington argued the negative and Everett the affirmative. Everett again proved successful.

A practice debate was held at Seattle. Lincoln High School supported the negative and Everett the affirmative. A few words explain the situation: Everett won. The sides of the question were reversed and Lincoln Hi came to Everett, only to be again defeated.

Another interesting practice debate, which Everett lost, was with the Badger Club of the University of Washington. Everett maintained that the islands should not be granted independence.

Our third official debate was held at home, when we met Fairhaven High School of Bellingham. Griffith Brick replaced Morris Dale, who graduated in mid-year. Fairhaven did not have the subject as well mastered as the home trio and therefore lost the debate. Everett upheld the negative and Fairhaven the affirmative.

The fourth and last debate of the season was held in Mount Vernon. The teams were very evenly matched, but the competent home team with the affirmative side was a little too strong for the negative Mount Vernon team.

Although Everett won all four debates we did not receive the district championship. We lacked two votes of being victorious; therefore, the championship went to Anacortes. But look out for the 1926 team!

Minstrel Show

The seventh annual Minstrel Show, given December 19-20, was the best one that Everett audiences have seen in a good many years. Under the able direction of Maurice Byers, the black-faced comedians took on the air of professionals. A great deal of credit is due, also, to Bernard Geary, manager, and to Mr. Rose and Mr. Kempkes, faculty committee.

The end men, Van Winkle, Montgomery, Calhoun and Sievers, nearly caused a riot with their clever jokes and stunts. Mr. Jay Kempkes acted as interlocutor.

The program was as follows:

Miss Sather

To our leader and inspiration, Miss Esther Sather, we owe the development of our musical organizations. She has encouraged us when the way was hard, has been a severe critic when necessary, but always has been our best friend.

She has made herself essential to our musically artistic life, and has endeared herself personally to everyone with whom she comes in contact.

In fact, our musical associations have been happy because of mutual interest; verily, one of the real joy spots in the E. H. S. curriculum. Long shall we cherish the memory of Glee days!

Chorus

Chorus consisted of about one hundred voices. This was also under the direction of Miss Sather. It met once a week after school, on Tuesdays. Flevia Van Dyke was the accompanist.

Advanced Girls Glee

The Advanced Girls' Glee Club has already assumed a professional air in rendering its numbers. Its public appearances have been steadily improving. It meets twice a week, on Mondays and Wednesdays. The officers for the first semester were president, Vivian Powell; secretary-treasurer, Margaret Rice; librarian, Mildred Bast, and her assistant, Iris Sims. Margaret Rice left during the semester and Ella Goff was elected to take her place. Officers for the second semester were president, Mary Torrey; secretary-treasurer, Helen Carlson, and librarian, Wilma Black. Jim Carboeau was the accompanist.

Members of the club were as follows:

Leona Ault	Myrtle Larson
Dorothy Ames	Dorothy Leonard
Marietta Anderson	Concordia Lubach
Mildred Bast	Maxine Macrow
Wilma Black	Gladys Mank
Tichina Butler	Pearl Mick

Koskie Hoeffler	Mary Torrey
Lurlie Hoover	Beverice Walsh
Doris Hyatt	Mary Walter
Thelma Ingle	Claire Whittney
Leona Jarmie	Helen Zebbie

Orchestra

The Orchestra has brought much credit to Everett High School, especially the music department, by the many excellent performances it has given this year. It has been very highly appreciated when it has played at assemblies.

The officers for the first semester were president, Howard Faller; secretary-treasurer, Verne Sievers, and librarian, Bob Wiester. Officers for second semester were president, May Sievers; secretary treasurer, Bob Wiester, and librarian, Clarence Taylor.

The personnel of the orchestra is as follows:

First Violin	First Cornolets
May Sievers (Concert Master)	Lyle Falsterholm
Margret Carlson	Dar Goff
Anna Grace Ragsdale	Second Cornolets
Elinor Oberstrom	Darwin Albin

Clarinet	Harp
Verne Sievers	Elizabeth Gable
Thomas Colles	Piano
Trombone	Philia Van Dyke
Bob Wiester
Hilla Collins

Advanced Boys Glee

The boys of this glee club have given evidence of some excellent work, under the capable supervision of Miss Sather. They have quite a number of accomplished soloists among them. They meet twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays. The officers for the first semester were president, Richard Stone; secretary-treasurer, Fred Bowden; and librarian, Washburn Hall. Officers for the second semester were president, Elsie Anderson; secretary-treasurer, Verner Soley; and librarian, Ralph Johnson.

Members of the glee club were as follows:

Elsie Anderson	Lloyd Greger
Adrian Bartholomew	Washburn Hall
William Bell	Willie Harris
Normal Binall	Arthur Johnson
Dave Bishop	Ralph Johnson
Fred Bowden	Glenn Miller

Dick Fry	Verner Soley
George Francis	Allen Spence
Percy Gates	Richard Stone

"Captain Crossbones"

Our first venture into the operatic circle, "Captain Crossbones," given May 16-18 in the high school auditorium was a great success.

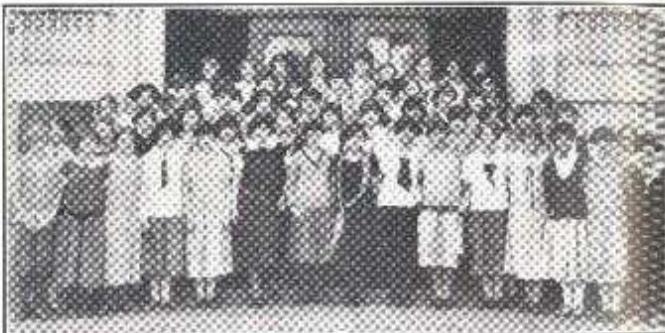

The leading roles were ably interpreted by Orville Walker as Richard Stoneybroke (baritone) an American planter, and Louise Siger as Theresa (soprano). The other parts were well taken by Pierre Carter as Don Cibel de Cigarr (tenor) a Spanish Grandee, Thelma Butler as Donna Isabella (contralto) his wife, Wilma Black as Eleanor (mezzo-soprano) an America heiress, Mildred Slagle as Miss Pelling (contralto) a futoress, Griffith Brick as Captain Bombastic (tenor) of the Island Police, William Peabody as Anthony Law (light baritone) the legal advisor, Ralph Johnson as Bill Pilgrim (bass) a retired pugilist, Elizabeth Doph as Kitty the postmistress, and Arthur Schroeder and Hollis Beasley as Zim and Zam the Island Police.

Don Cibel de Cigarr is a haughty, explosive, old Spanish Grandee, whose one daughter, Theresa, he is determined shall marry some Spanish nobleman she has never seen, so he keeps her virtually a prisoner within his estate at Havana. Theresa has fallen in love with a young planter, Richard Stoneybroke, who is determined to secure Theresa for his own. To accomplish this he conceives a bold scheme and carries it out with unqualified success. He and a number of his friends disguise themselves as a band of pirates and invade the old Don's estate, frighten away the servants, and carry off Theresa. From this daring episode a very interesting plot evolves.

The chorus parts were taken by the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs combined, accompanied by the orchestra. Much credit is due to Miss Sather for the directing of the operetta, and to Mr. Countryman for his valuable assistance, which added much to the success of the production. As the opera proved so popular, it is the desire of all to have one of its kind put on by the musical organization every year.

Girls' Intermediate Glee

The Girls' Intermediate Glee was formed for the purpose of preparing the girls for advanced glee. It has been given some careful training, which will make a wonderful foundation for advanced work. The officers for the first semester were president, Virginia Bergstrom; secretary-treasurer, Harriet Picket; and librarian, Vera Lake. The officers for the second semester were Elizabeth Mortland, president; Evelyn Crow, secretary-treasurer; Doris Hardwick and Edithella Reed, librarians. Bernice Tweeddale was accompanist. The club met fifth period on Wednesday.

*With faces grim, with eyes grown dim,
With fingers all crippled and sore,
We write these lines, turn down our steins,
And close the sanctum door.
We've worked like mad for every ad
From cannon balls to pills;
We've done our best—God give us rest,
And cash to pay our bills.*

Acknowledgments

The steps which led to the publication of this volume of the Nesika, were many and varied and the final production places the editor and the business manager under sincere obligation to those who, by their faithful help and co-operation, have made this volume possible. We wish to thank those on the staff whose timely assistance has been of the greatest worth.

We do not, however, wish to overlook the printer and the engraver, for without their professional advice this volume would be far from successful. The Seattle Engraving Company has given us engravings of quality, and Kane and Harens Printing Company has done exceptional work on this publication. Also, a great deal of credit is due to Vikdal Studio for the time and effort spent on the photographs for this book.
