Sharpstein School Records Walla Walla, Walla Walla County, Washington 1899 - 1921

INTRODUCTION

Sharpstein School is the oldest remaining school in Walla Walla, Washington. It was built in 1898 and named for Benjamin L. Sharpstein, prominent lawyer who was elected to the State Legislature in 1866. The building was designed by Henry Osterman. It was remodeled and modernized in 1997 - 1998 and is still one of the premier schools in the school district.

We were given the opportunity to copy the school records and did so up through 1921 and agreed that there would be no personal information, such as grades received in classes or other attendance information. A name in these records simply means that that student, teacher, or visitor was found in the records for that year. The original records can be found in the State Archives in Olympia, Washington.

There is one year from 7 Sep 1896 - 18 Jun 1897, Grades 3 & 4, Teacher Mary Gilliam. It then continues in the 1899-1900 school year. Pages 1-58 show only the class members, usually their age, the teacher, and visitors and school board members. Later years add parents and parent address (Page 59 on). If there is a parenthesis and location behind a parent name, it indicates where the family moved from to Walla Walla. In the back of the book is an all-name index of the students, parents, teachers, visitors and school board members.

We did our best in reading the flowing hand writing of the records. Parker Penmanship was taught and records kept by some teachers who were masters at phonetic spelling. In some cases it appears that the records were kept by students who helped the teacher. You may find in two different records in the same year, a student name spelled two different ways. If nick names were used, we did not change them to what we thought they should be. Bob Brown is also found as Robert Brown. You can decide if that is the same person. The same with Anndrewe Jonees and Andrew Jones..

We would like to recognize Roberta Hadley and Robert Christensen for their help in typing, reading, and rereading this information. Without them we would not have been able to complete this project.
